NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE Legislature of Rhode Island went into extra session yesterday on the call of the Governor, for the purpose of framing a license law, whisky being free in the state since the repeal of Prohibition.

IN the McQuade trial at Ballston yesterday five jurors were obtained. They are Frank A. White, insurance agent; David D. Eggleston, farmer; Enos Jerome, teamster; James Gellan, farmer, and Adam Phin, mechanic. This exhausted the first panel of thirty-six.

DIRECTORY censuses have just given Buffalo 267,000 and Newburg 28,000 inhabitants. But the directory census is invariably a deceiver. Wait for the truth till Superintendent Porter gets through with his work next year.

LOUIS KAPLAN, police clerk of San Francisco, committed suicide yesterday because of a shortage of $2,000 in his accounts. Men who steal one hundred times as much do not shoot themselves. They go to Canada, compromise with the plundered parties for one half, and become shining social and moral lights in the Dominion.

THE appointment of Horace A. Taylor to be a Railroad Commissioner retires Gen. Joe Johnston, late of the rebel army, to private life. Johnston was nearly 80 years old when appointed by Mr. Cleveland, and has rendered no official service except drawing his salary. His appointment was made in recognition of the Confederacy.

MRS. KILRAIN believes that her Jake was drugged. This is not unlikely. There was an unmistakable inclination in his crowd to play into the hands of the Sullivanites, and his trainer is susceptible to the suspicion of a bribe. Kilrain did no fighting at all, but hopped around the ring, keeping as far from Sullivan as possible. This may be drugs or it may be "science." It can hardly be called fighting.

GOV. LOWRY of Mississippi threatens to extradite Sullivan, Kilrain, and other prominent participants in the fight. This means that he will cause their arrest and issue requisitions upon the Governors in whose states they may be caught for their surrender to Mississippi. Now let's see if Lowry has the "sand" to do this. If he were to make three thousand arrests he would catch a Democrat every time.

A GANG of White Caps at Appleton, Wis., undertook last Saturday night to punish August Belz for alleged wife-beating. In response to their call Belz came to the door with a big knife in his hand and slashed among them in a manner that caused their instant departure. The White Caps escaped with their wounded, one of whom had a long and dangerous gash in his stomach, and Belz returned to the house unpunished.

THE Johnstown fund commissioners decided yesterday to distribute $500,000 by checks immediately among the sufferers in that city. In 205 cases $1,000 each is to be paid, and in other cases from $600 to $200 each. As there are 3,475 of these cases, another draft upon the fund will have to be made. The commissioners have decided to pay out $100,000 east of the mountains, of which Williamsport will receive $50,000.

JOHNSTOWN up in Fulton county has become emulous of its Pennsylvania namesake, and yesterday suffered itself to be washed out by a waterspout in the absence of a broken dam. Details indicate that probably fifteen lives are lost, a dozen bridges gone, and an immense amount of property destroyed. There are a dozen Johnstowns in the United States, but nine or ten have not reported. It is not too late for a few of them to change their names.

IN New York yesterday Patrick Packenham, James Nolan and John Lewis were sentenced to be hanged in the Tombs August 23d. Three other murderers who have been denied new trials by the Court of Appeals still await sentence. All are woman murderers excepting one. As August 23d falls on Friday, Gov. Hill will probabty respite the doomed men for a few days. It is said that the Governor disapproves of Friday as hangman's day because he was born on that day.

THE coal companies and their striking miners in the Illinois regions have agreed to submit their long standing differences to arbitration. The arbitrators are to be three in number, of whom one will be chosen by the company, one by the strikers, and the third by the other two. One of the companies made an offer of profit sharing some weeks ago, but it was rejected. The miners are ignorant Europeans who cannot "figure," and are suspicious of being cheated in the "divide."

AND now the news comes that the Germans are ruling with as high a hand in the Marshall Islands as they did recently in Samoa, and are crowding out the American traders. As William Walter Phelps, late Commissioner to Berlin, is going to that city to remain permanently and look after American interests, the matter will probably be attended to. The American trade is in shells, sponge and coral. The Marshall Islands are in the Pacific southwest of the Sandwich Islands and in the direct route of American vessels from San Francisco to Southern China and the Sunda group.

EX-SECRETARY FAIRCHILD'S juggling efforts to make the tariff appear as an ugly breeder of the surplus and the internal revenue as a very trifling and harmless affair is well exposed in an article which we copy from the New York Sun. Mr. Fairchild estimated the tariff receipts for 1889 $4,000,000 too high and the internal revenue $12,000,000 too low. This was in harmony with Mr. Cleveland's free trade message and the entire course of the Democratic party in Congress, which was to cut down the tariff that protected the manufacturers, wool-growers and farmers, and preserve the internal tax which protected the whisky ring. It was in this same estimate that the sinking fund was treated as surplus, by which the same surplus was swelled to $104,000,000. Mr. Fairchild has never been reckoned as much of a statesman or financier. As a juggler of figures for the benefit of the free trade party he might have been a success if his dishonesty had been less transparent.

As Many as 30 People Reported Missing—Bodies Recovered, Etc.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, July 10.—A special from Johnstown, N. Y., says: "The water which came up over this village last night has subsided greatly this morning, but has left scenes of desolation in every direction. The water rose 15 feet and overflowed everything. It has fallen about eight feet below its highest point. Ten people are thus far reported missing. The bodies of four have been recovered. These four are all Johnstown people. Those whose bodies are recovered are Charles Frear and two other men named Coakley and Yost and a 14-year-old boy named Steadwell. The drowned and missing people were among a crowd of from 30 to 50 persons who stood on the stone bridge crossing the River at Perry-street, watching the rising waters. They seemed regardless of danger until the bridge gave way and they were precipitated into the flood. The bridge was about 20 feet high and 15 or 20 feet wide. It was a single arch structure and was crossed by a street-car track. The stone bridge was swept away at about 7 o'clock in the evening. Two iron bridges of the Johnstown, Fonda & Gloversville Railroad were wrecked and seven or eight other bridges were carried away. Two tanneries owned by Simon Schreiber were swept away, and the Schreiber and Anderson dams were broken down. The water in the Cayadutta Creek began to rise at 4:30 o'clock and the stream was soon converted into a raging torrent. Of the men, women and children who were thrown into the water by the breaking of the stone bridge the larger number were saved by means of ropes thrown to them from the shore. The firemen, under the direction of Chief H. A. Thompson, are searching for more bodies. The water is still very rough and dangerous for boats. At Fonda it is reported 500 feet of the New-York Central track is washed out. The final and fatal rise in the Cayadutta was very sudden and is attributed to the effects of a cloud-burst. Besides the sweeping away of the bridge and the tanneries there is much damage to buildings which are yet left standing. The electric light plant was washed out and the town left in darkness for the night. All communication by wire is cut off save through the long-distance telephone."

TROY, July 10.—A special dispatch to the Troy Times from Johnstown says: A cloud-burst in the Cayadutta Valley, near Johnstown, Fulton County, yesterday afternoon, flooded the lower part of the valley and swept away several bridges. The railroad bridge at Johnstown and the one over the Cayadutta Creek, at Fonda, were washed away. The Central Railroad was washed out for 300 feet at a point one-half mile east of Tribes Hill, and a half a mile further east near Akin, another washout occurred, tearing out the track for 150 feet.

The wash-out delayed all trains. Late in the afternoon, however, the Central trains bound east were transferred from Akin to Fuller's Station on the West Shore Railroad and brought over that line to South-Schenectady, where connections were made with Albany. This morning the trains were running over the West Shore, as stated above, about half an hour behind time, the delay being caused by the transfer at Fuller's Station.

Great excitement prevails throughout the Cayadutta Valley. It is not known how many lives are lost but the bodies of three men have already been recovered. The Fire Department has been called out and is searching for the bodies of others, for it is believed a great many were drowned.

The heavy rain that prevailed all the afternoon had raised Cayadutta Creek until it was a roaring torrent. At the foot of Perry-street about 6 o'clock last evening some 50 persons, men, women and children, gathered on the stone bridge over Cayadutta Creek to watch the flood. The water came with tremendous force against the abutments of the bridge but as it was a stone structure of great strength, no one suspected that it was in danger. The bridge was suddenly swept away, but quite a number of those on the structure escaped to the street and were saved. The report of the disaster spread through the village. The rain continued to fall in torrents, and the valley was in darkness, the heavy clouds hanging low over the village. Many could not believe that the bridge had been destroyed until they had personally visited the scene of the disaster. Perry-street and the bank of the creek were soon crowded with persons looking for their friends, and the greatest excitement prevailed. The search for the missing was begun at once, and in the excitement it was not easy to find members of the same family who had become separated in the crowd. The estimates of the number of drowned range all the way from 6 to 30. Efforts are being made to obtain a correct list of the drowned. The bodies of three men were recovered this morning, One of them has been identified as a glove cutter named Frear. All hands are out doing their best to find the bodies of others known to be missing. The flood carried away two skin mills, one belonging to Simon Schriver. Both mills were in the village limits and on the bank of Cayadutta Creek. Several coal sheds and small buildings were also swept away. The big iron railroad bridge at Johnstown was swept away as was also the iron railroad bridge over Cayadutta Creek at Fonda. All the wagon bridges over the Creek between Johnstown and Fonda were carried away. Great damage has been done all through the valley.

A man has just arrived at Johnstown from Gloversville. He says quite a number of small buildings have been carried away at that point, but no loss of life is reported except at Johnstown. Two dams across Cayadutta Creek were swept away, the one at Schriver's mill taking the mill with it, and the other about midway between Johnstown and Gloversville. The giving way of the latter dam increased the flood that swept away the stone bridge at Perry-street. At 9 o'clock the bodies recovered had been identified as follows: Charles Frear, a glove cutter; a boy named Steadwell, 14 years old, and Alfred Cokeley.

It rained nearly all night, but this morning the rain ceased and the flood went down. Evidences of the ravages of the flood are seen all through the valley along the creek. Some of the bodies of the drowned have probably been carried down into the Mohawk at Fonda. The rain began falling at Johnstown at 2 P. M. and it rained hard and steadily until 6 o'clock. Between 6 and 7 o'clock reports came up-town that the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad bridge had been washed away and that the large stone bridge at State-street had also gone out. These reports which caused the most intense excitement proved to be true. The flood had started east of the village and washed away a new addition to Schriver's leather dressing mill, and also taking Schriver's dam. Then it turned to the south on the Cayadutta Creek and took away the iron railroad bridge and the State-street bridge. The stone dam at Liebenheim's leather dressing mill then went down with the flood and a saw-mill was taken with it. It was now 8 o'clock in the evening, and the town was in a ferment of alarm. Thousands of people lined the shores of the Cayadutta and watched the boiling flood. Many persons were on the Perry-street bridge. Suddenly this bridge gave way, and the people on the structure were thrown into the current. Some escaped, and others were carried down stream.

The scene of the disaster at the Perry-street bridge attracted the villagers to the spot. Rescuing and searching parties were organized immediately. The following persons were pulled out of the seething stream, and though exhausted were soon rescusitated: Benjamin Nellis, 25 years old; John Vosburgh; A. Putnam, 35 years old and employed in Miller & Argersinger's skin mill, and E. Davins, 22 years old, and a mason employed by McLean. Three bodies have been recovered, as follows: Albert Steadwell, son of the widow Steadwell, of Church-street. He was 16 years old and employed in Argersinger's glove factory. Albert Cokeley, a glove cutter at John H. Decker, Son & Co.'s. Cokeley was 30 years old. He is survived by a wife. Charles Frear, a carpenter employed by Seaman & Company. Frear was 55 years old. He is survived by a wife and a daughter.

Among the missing are: R. D. Simmons, of the firm of R. D. Simmons & Company, painters. Mr. Simmons is 35 years of age. William Myers, nine years old and a son of the Widow Myers. Miss Ada Miller, 22 years old and an employe in a glove factory.

The number lost cannot yet be determined as the estimates vary from six to 30. The creek is being dragged but it is believed some bodies have floated into the Mohawk at Fonda.

The bodies recovered were taken in charge by Dr. J. Lefler, the Coroner. The bodies were removed to the police station and identified and were then taken to the late homes of the deceased. The loss in money at Johnstown will reach many thousands of dollars. Thousands of skins that were being dressed are floating down the Cayadutta. Among the bridges carried away was an iron bridge at Stewart's leather mill, and the iron railroad bridge at Fonda. The Cayadutta Creek was never before so high. The Creek rose from 12 to 15 feet in 30 minutes. By the washing away of bridges on the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad, both north and south of Johnstown, that place is completely shut off from railway communication. The last train from Gloversville reached Johnstown at 7 o'clock last night.

The Cayadutta empties into the Mohawk at Fonda, and Fonda is flooded. Great damage has been done to hay fields which are flooded. Two bridges on the Mohawk turnpike were carried away. Travel is stopped. Central Railroad and Johnstown Railroad bridges were both destroyed. Passengers are transferred. G. F. Mill & Company's plaster mill was wrecked. The damage is great. At Sammonsville, four miles below Johnstown, a water wheel at the big mill was carried away, but no other damage was found. At Berryville, a mile below Sammonsville, the dam at Clapper's shoddy mill was washed out.

The general belief is that the flood was caused by a cloud-burst near Johnstown. This theory is confirmed by the fact that at Hale's mills, three and one-half miles up the creek no damage was done and the dam at that place is all right.

JOHNSTOWN, July 10.—The following account of the cloud-burst is given by Conductor Allen, of the Johnstown, Fonda & Gloversville Railroad: "We met with no mishap, and the Johnstown depot was reached at 7 P. M. The railroad bridge just above the depot was gone and stopped further progress. Both the railroad bridge and a wooden bridge alongside were out. Part of Simon Schriver's skin mill which was washed away above had lodged against the stone arches. I left my train and went to the village by going around. The railroad bridge went out about 6:30 P. M. It had rained constantly and very hard from 3:30 until 6 o'clock. I heard of a bridge on the Creek going out about 8 o'clock in the evening. I was then back by the railroad bridge. We heard there were a lot of people in the water. A lot of us stood looking at the water as it rushed beneath the bridge and saw two men float by. One, a Mr. Abbott, was rescued at the stone arch of Main-street bridge, by a rope thrown to him. The body of the other was found this morning. I hear they found three bodies this morning in an eddy midway between the washed-out railroad bridge and the wooden bridges, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile." F. E. Eatton was on the train. He, with two others, had started to go down the Creek from Johnstown at 8 P. M. to pick up floating skins. He had been on the bridge 15 minutes before it went down. There were about 30 on the bridge. Flood wood from the skin mill was lodging against it. One-half of it lodged; the rest went into the cemetery. Mr. Schriver was caught in the midst of water, and had to spend a good share of the night there with the water around him. He says he was at the depot when the bridge went down and saw a man float by. He afterwards learned the man was rescued below. There were a large number of people on the bridge and it is not known how many went down. No other loss of life than from those on the bridge is reported. No important buildings except the skin mill are washed out. Above Johnstown the culverts and bridges are washed away and the Creek is lined with debris from the flood. The Creek rose rapidly as if an immense reservoir had been poured into it suddenly and the rain was most terrific nearly all night. A young man has just come into the office and says besides three bodies found this forenoon two more have just been found at this place. Dennis Simmons, aged 31, of R. D. Simmons & Company, and a boy named Miller are said to be missing. The bodies found this forenoon are Charles Frear, carpenter, 57 years of age; Albert Steadwell, aged 17, and Alfred Coldaugh, aged 16. No special damage is reported at Johnstown. Damages to railroad and other property are estimated to exceed $100,000. Schriver's loss is $15,000. Three bridges and four dams were destroyed. The centre of the storm was about four miles north-east of Johnstown. Coroner Dr. J. Lefler says he does not hear of the two bodies found at Fonda and does not believe it is so. There will be no inquest. The people were warned off the bridge by the police and others and some obeyed.

ALONG IRON HIGHWAYS IN THE U. S.

In Reference to Leases—A Proposition About Freights—To Extend a Line, Etc.

In a recent letter on the subject of continuous car heating, Professor Lanza makes the statement that, according to experiments thus far, only a small percentage of the steam generated by a locomotive is required for heating purposes in this line. The pipe supplying the steam from the engine should not, he says, be less than one and one-half inches in diameter, while that of the radiating pipes in the cars should be two inches; the connections between the cars should be rubber, as all metal joints will leak in course of time, however careful the original workmanship may have been. Again, direct steam must be used, all plans for effectively employing the exhaust in this way having failed. The principal difficulty met with on introducing this system was to get rid of the water formed by condensation, but satisfactory traps are now supplied.

A dispatch from Utica this forenoon stated: "The railroad situation is that Central tracks are washed away at Fonda and Akin. Great damage was done not only at Johnstown but down the Mohawk Valley to Amsterdam. All Central trains are running over the West Shore, which is not injured, though the track was covered for 15 miles last night."

The representatives of the Concord and the Boston & Maine Railroads have agreed upon a bill to amend the Colby act of 1883, by permitting any railroad in New-Hampshire to lease another and to ascertain and pay for the interest of the minority or dissenting stockholders.

At a meeting of the Western Freight Association, yesterday, the proposition of the Chicago & Alton to reduce the rates on cattle, dressed-beef, and packing-house products from the Missouri River to Chicago was voted down. The Alton thereupon gave 10 days' notice of its intention to put the reduced rates into effect.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Road yesterday notified the Trans-Missouri Railway Association that it had been forced to give points on its line in Kansas rates proportionate to the rate set by the Kansas Commissioners for Wichita. The question was referred to the general managers.

At Hartford yesterday the stockholders of the Hartford & Connecticut Western voted in favor of immediately extending the line from Tariffville, Conn., to Springfield, Mass., 14,874 shares voting "yes" and 167 "no."

The New-York, Lake Erie & Western Railroad yesterday announced a reduction in the rate on corn and wheat from Chicago to New-York only, from 25 to 20 cents, the new rate to take effect on July 12.

STATE OFFICIALS UNDER CHARGES.

The Grand Jury Investigating Alleged Corruption in the Colorado Legislature.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DENVER, Col., July 10.—Most of the time of the present Grand Jury has been occupied in investigating charges of corruption made against certain State officials and members of the last Legislature regarding the purchase of furniture for the Legislative building, stationery and other supplies for Members of the Assembly and public printing, which aggregated $60,000. In the absence of Secretary of State Rice, who is East, the Grand Jury demanded of his Deputy, J. J. Wyatt, the keys to the rooms where the furniture is said to be stored for the purpose of continuing their investigation. Wyatt disregarded the demands of the jury and was arrested for contempt and yesterday was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $100.

Kilrain Said to be Dead.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, July 10.—Rumors are in circulation that Kilrain has died of internal injuries he received in his fight with Sullivan. One of the reports is to the effect that he died in Texas while en route to his home in Baltimore and that death was caused by internal hemorrhage. No confirmation of the report can be obtained but telegrams have been sent to various points.

IN M'QUADE TRIAL AT BALLSTON.

Farmers Offer all Kinds of Excuses to Get Rid of Jury Duty.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 10.—The McQuade trial is progressing very slowly. Long before the hour of the convening of court this morning the Court House was filled with spectators. One hundred extra jurymen were present. It seemed as if every man had an excuse. Frank A. White, the first juryman accepted yesterday, was excused on account of illness. There will be more difficulty in getting the jury than was anticipated. This being a very busy season with farmers they offer every imaginable excuse.

Burglars Get More than They Bargained For.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

OLATHE, Kans., July 10.—Early yesterday morning two Kansas City burglars, John Chambers and John Chesser, entered the house of Edward Hyatte, a farmer, living 10 miles north of here, through the window of the sleeping room of Mr. and Mrs. Hyatte. The noise aroused Hyatte, who fired three shots at the burglars. Chesser fled but Chambers attempted to wrest the revolver from Hyatte's hand. The two men tumbled about the floor until they finally burst through the kitchen door. Chambers gained possession of the weapon and pointed it at Hyatte, when his wife felled the burglar with a blow on the head with a heavy walking stick. Lights were procured and it was found that the shots fired by Hyatte had taken effect in the body of the burglar, one in the arm, one in the leg and one in the stomach. From the latter wound the burglar died last night.

A few nights after her marriage Parish attempted to commit suicide in a house of ill-fame, but did not succeed. Last night he went to Mrs. Callahan's house about 10:30 o'clock and called her to the porch. When she appeared he shot her in the breast killing her instantly. Parish fled to a low dive and at midnight shot himself through the head just as the officers were about to arrest him. He is dead.

One Man's Rash Act.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., July 10.—A man was found shot in the head on the street here yesterday afternoon. He will probably die. From letters found on his person it appears he is a well-to-do farmer of Kansas named George E. Traver. He had written to a brother in Minneapolis, saying he was insane, and that he preferred to kill himself rather than be sent to a hospital. His mother lives in Mexico, N. Y. How he came here is a mystery.

Action Taken by the Members of the British Columbia Board of Trade.

By Cable to The Freeman.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 10.—The report submitted by the President and unanimously adopted at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Board of Trade is pronouncedly in favor of reciprocity with the United States. Referring to the fishery industry of the Province it is stated that in the absence of any useful effort on the part of the Federal Government private enterprise has explored and demonstrated that the black cod and halibut banks are practically unlimited. The Board expresses the earnest hope that the Dominion Government will endeavor to bring about an interchange of fishery products with the United States, as there is no other market. Reference is made to the vast iron deposits in the Province which would be utilized to the advantage of both countries were reciprocity adopted. As to lumber, reciprocity would be of incalculable benefit. The report urges the Board to represent in the proper quarter the disadvantages under which the Province is placed, both by its isolated position and the present fiscal policy of the country.

NORTH DAKOTA DEMOCRATS PLEASED.

To be Given Four Chairmanships and Their Full Quota of Committees.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BISMARCK, N. D., July 10.—The Constitutional Convention was not in session yesterday. The Democrats met in caucus and prepared their slate. The President will give them more than they asked for. The plan of assigning the committees eases the Democrats and establishes almost absolute harmony in that wing of the Convention. They will probably be given three or four chairmanships and their full quota on 23 committees. The farmers are inclined to claim the Committees on Corporations, Revenue and Taxation, School Lands, Elective Franchise, Executive Department and Temperance. They have no inclination to control the Committee on Judiciary Department or the Legislative Departments beyond a fair representation.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE Legislature of Rhode Island went into extra session yesterday on the call of the Governor, for the purpose of framing a license law, whisky being free in the state since the repeal of Prohibition.

IN the McQuade trial at Ballston yesterday five jurors were obtained. They are Frank A. White, insurance agent; David D. Eggleston, farmer; Enos Jerome, teamster; James Gellan, farmer, and Adam Phin, mechanic. This exhausted the first panel of thirty-six.

DIRECTORY censuses have just given Buffalo 267,000 and Newburg 28,000 inhabitants. But the directory census is invariably a deceiver. Wait for the truth till Superintendent Porter gets through with his work next year.

LOUIS KAPLAN, police clerk of San Francisco, committed suicide yesterday because of a shortage of $2,000 in his accounts. Men who steal one hundred times as much do not shoot themselves. They go to Canada, compromise with the plundered parties for one half, and become shining social and moral lights in the Dominion.

THE appointment of Horace A. Taylor to be a Railroad Commissioner retires Gen. Joe Johnston, late of the rebel army, to private life. Johnston was nearly 80 years old when appointed by Mr. Cleveland, and has rendered no official service except drawing his salary. His appointment was made in recognition of the Confederacy.

MRS. KILRAIN believes that her Jake was drugged. This is not unlikely. There was an unmistakable inclination in his crowd to play into the hands of the Sullivanites, and his trainer is susceptible to the suspicion of a bribe. Kilrain did no fighting at all, but hopped around the ring, keeping as far from Sullivan as possible. This may be drugs or it may be "science." It can hardly be called fighting.

GOV. LOWRY of Mississippi threatens to extradite Sullivan, Kilrain, and other prominent participants in the fight. This means that he will cause their arrest and issue requisitions upon the Governors in whose states they may be caught for their surrender to Mississippi. Now let's see if Lowry has the "sand" to do this. If he were to make three thousand arrests he would catch a Democrat every time.

A GANG of White Caps at Appleton, Wis., undertook last Saturday night to punish August Belz for alleged wife-beating. In response to their call Belz came to the door with a big knife in his hand and slashed among them in a manner that caused their instant departure. The White Caps escaped with their wounded, one of whom had a long and dangerous gash in his stomach, and Belz returned to the house unpunished.

THE Johnstown fund commissioners decided yesterday to distribute $500,000 by checks immediately among the sufferers in that city. In 205 cases $1,000 each is to be paid, and in other cases from $600 to $200 each. As there are 3,475 of these cases, another draft upon the fund will have to be made. The commissioners have decided to pay out $100,000 east of the mountains, of which Williamsport will receive $50,000.

JOHNSTOWN up in Fulton county has become emulous of its Pennsylvania namesake, and yesterday suffered itself to be washed out by a waterspout in the absence of a broken dam. Details indicate that probably fifteen lives are lost, a dozen bridges gone, and an immense amount of property destroyed. There are a dozen Johnstowns in the United States, but nine or ten have not reported. It is not too late for a few of them to change their names.

IN New York yesterday Patrick Packenham, James Nolan and John Lewis were sentenced to be hanged in the Tombs August 23d. Three other murderers who have been denied new trials by the Court of Appeals still await sentence. All are woman murderers excepting one. As August 23d falls on Friday, Gov. Hill will probabty respite the doomed men for a few days. It is said that the Governor disapproves of Friday as hangman's day because he was born on that day.

THE coal companies and their striking miners in the Illinois regions have agreed to submit their long standing differences to arbitration. The arbitrators are to be three in number, of whom one will be chosen by the company, one by the strikers, and the third by the other two. One of the companies made an offer of profit sharing some weeks ago, but it was rejected. The miners are ignorant Europeans who cannot "figure," and are suspicious of being cheated in the "divide."

AND now the news comes that the Germans are ruling with as high a hand in the Marshall Islands as they did recently in Samoa, and are crowding out the American traders. As William Walter Phelps, late Commissioner to Berlin, is going to that city to remain permanently and look after American interests, the matter will probably be attended to. The American trade is in shells, sponge and coral. The Marshall Islands are in the Pacific southwest of the Sandwich Islands and in the direct route of American vessels from San Francisco to Southern China and the Sunda group.

EX-SECRETARY FAIRCHILD'S juggling efforts to make the tariff appear as an ugly breeder of the surplus and the internal revenue as a very trifling and harmless affair is well exposed in an article which we copy from the New York Sun. Mr. Fairchild estimated the tariff receipts for 1889 $4,000,000 too high and the internal revenue $12,000,000 too low. This was in harmony with Mr. Cleveland's free trade message and the entire course of the Democratic party in Congress, which was to cut down the tariff that protected the manufacturers, wool-growers and farmers, and preserve the internal tax which protected the whisky ring. It was in this same estimate that the sinking fund was treated as surplus, by which the same surplus was swelled to $104,000,000. Mr. Fairchild has never been reckoned as much of a statesman or financier. As a juggler of figures for the benefit of the free trade party he might have been a success if his dishonesty had been less transparent.

As Many as 30 People Reported Missing—Bodies Recovered, Etc.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, July 10.—A special from Johnstown, N. Y., says: "The water which came up over this village last night has subsided greatly this morning, but has left scenes of desolation in every direction. The water rose 15 feet and overflowed everything. It has fallen about eight feet below its highest point. Ten people are thus far reported missing. The bodies of four have been recovered. These four are all Johnstown people. Those whose bodies are recovered are Charles Frear and two other men named Coakley and Yost and a 14-year-old boy named Steadwell. The drowned and missing people were among a crowd of from 30 to 50 persons who stood on the stone bridge crossing the River at Perry-street, watching the rising waters. They seemed regardless of danger until the bridge gave way and they were precipitated into the flood. The bridge was about 20 feet high and 15 or 20 feet wide. It was a single arch structure and was crossed by a street-car track. The stone bridge was swept away at about 7 o'clock in the evening. Two iron bridges of the Johnstown, Fonda & Gloversville Railroad were wrecked and seven or eight other bridges were carried away. Two tanneries owned by Simon Schreiber were swept away, and the Schreiber and Anderson dams were broken down. The water in the Cayadutta Creek began to rise at 4:30 o'clock and the stream was soon converted into a raging torrent. Of the men, women and children who were thrown into the water by the breaking of the stone bridge the larger number were saved by means of ropes thrown to them from the shore. The firemen, under the direction of Chief H. A. Thompson, are searching for more bodies. The water is still very rough and dangerous for boats. At Fonda it is reported 500 feet of the New-York Central track is washed out. The final and fatal rise in the Cayadutta was very sudden and is attributed to the effects of a cloud-burst. Besides the sweeping away of the bridge and the tanneries there is much damage to buildings which are yet left standing. The electric light plant was washed out and the town left in darkness for the night. All communication by wire is cut off save through the long-distance telephone."

TROY, July 10.—A special dispatch to the Troy Times from Johnstown says: A cloud-burst in the Cayadutta Valley, near Johnstown, Fulton County, yesterday afternoon, flooded the lower part of the valley and swept away several bridges. The railroad bridge at Johnstown and the one over the Cayadutta Creek, at Fonda, were washed away. The Central Railroad was washed out for 300 feet at a point one-half mile east of Tribes Hill, and a half a mile further east near Akin, another washout occurred, tearing out the track for 150 feet.

The wash-out delayed all trains. Late in the afternoon, however, the Central trains bound east were transferred from Akin to Fuller's Station on the West Shore Railroad and brought over that line to South-Schenectady, where connections were made with Albany. This morning the trains were running over the West Shore, as stated above, about half an hour behind time, the delay being caused by the transfer at Fuller's Station.

Great excitement prevails throughout the Cayadutta Valley. It is not known how many lives are lost but the bodies of three men have already been recovered. The Fire Department has been called out and is searching for the bodies of others, for it is believed a great many were drowned.

The heavy rain that prevailed all the afternoon had raised Cayadutta Creek until it was a roaring torrent. At the foot of Perry-street about 6 o'clock last evening some 50 persons, men, women and children, gathered on the stone bridge over Cayadutta Creek to watch the flood. The water came with tremendous force against the abutments of the bridge but as it was a stone structure of great strength, no one suspected that it was in danger. The bridge was suddenly swept away, but quite a number of those on the structure escaped to the street and were saved. The report of the disaster spread through the village. The rain continued to fall in torrents, and the valley was in darkness, the heavy clouds hanging low over the village. Many could not believe that the bridge had been destroyed until they had personally visited the scene of the disaster. Perry-street and the bank of the creek were soon crowded with persons looking for their friends, and the greatest excitement prevailed. The search for the missing was begun at once, and in the excitement it was not easy to find members of the same family who had become separated in the crowd. The estimates of the number of drowned range all the way from 6 to 30. Efforts are being made to obtain a correct list of the drowned. The bodies of three men were recovered this morning. One of them has been identified as a glove cutter named Frear. All hands are out doing their best to find the bodies of others known to be missing. The flood carried away two skin mills, one belonging to Simon Schriver. Both mills were in the village limits and on the bank of Cayadutta Creek. Several coal sheds and small buildings were also swept away. The big iron railroad bridge at Johnstown was swept away as was also the iron railroad bridge over Cayadutta Creek at Fonda. All the wagon bridges over the Creek between Johnstown and Fonda were carried away. Great damage has been done all through the valley.

A man has just arrived at Johnstown from Gloversville. He says quite a number of small buildings have been carried away at that point, but no loss of life is reported except at Johnstown. Two dams across Cayadutta Creek were swept away, the one at Schriver's mill taking the mill with it, and the other about midway between Johnstown and Gloversville. The giving way of the latter dam increased the flood that swept away the stone bridge at Perry-street. At 9 o'clock the bodies recovered had been identified as follows: Charles Frear, a glove cutter; a boy named Steadwell, 14 years old, and Alfred Cokeley.

It rained nearly all night, but this morning the rain ceased and the flood went down. Evidences of the ravages of the flood are seen all through the valley along the creek. Some of the bodies of the drowned have probably been carried down into the Mohawk at Fonda. The rain began falling at Johnstown at 2 P. M. and it rained hard and steadily until 6 o'clock. Between 6 and 7 o'clock reports came up-town that the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad bridge had been washed away and that the large stone bridge at State-street had also gone out. These reports which caused the most intense excitement proved to be true. The flood had started east of the village and washed away a new addition to Schriver's leather dressing mill, and also taking Schriver's dam. Then it turned to the south on the Cayadutta Creek and took away the iron railroad bridge and the State-street bridge. The stone dam at Liebenheim's leather dressing mill then went down with the flood and a saw-mill was taken with it. It was now 8 o'clock in the evening, and the town was in a ferment of alarm. Thousands of people lined the shores of the Cayadutta and watched the boiling flood. Many persons were on the Perry-street bridge. Suddenly this bridge gave way, and the people on the structure were thrown into the current. Some escaped, and others were carried down stream.

The scene of the disaster at the Perry-street bridge attracted the villagers to the spot. Rescuing and searching parties were organized immediately. The following persons were pulled out of the seething stream, and though exhausted were soon rescusitated: Benjamin Nellis, 25 years old; John Vosburgh; A. Putnam, 35 years old and employed in Miller & Argersinger's skin mill, and E. Davins, 22 years old, and a mason employed by McLean. Three bodies have been recovered, as follows: Albert Steadwell, son of the widow Steadwell, of Church-street. He was 16 years old and employed in Argersinger's glove factory. Albert Cokeley, a glove cutter at John H. Decker, Son & Co.'s. Cokeley was 30 years old. He is survived by a wife. Charles Frear, a carpenter employed by Seaman & Company. Frear was 55 years old. He is survived by a wife and a daughter.

Among the missing are: R. D. Simmons, of the firm of R. D. Simmons & Company, painters. Mr. Simmons is 35 years of age. William Myers, nine years old and a son of the Widow Myers. Miss Ada Miller, 22 years old and an employe in a glove factory.

The number lost cannot yet be determined as the estimates vary from six to 30. The creek is being dragged but it is believed some bodies have floated into the Mohawk at Fonda.

The bodies recovered were taken in charge by Dr. J. Lefler, the Coroner. The bodies were removed to the police station and identified and were then taken to the late homes of the deceased. The loss in money at Johnstown will reach many thousands of dollars. Thousands of skins that were being dressed are floating down the Cayadutta. Among the bridges carried away was an iron bridge at Stewart's leather mill, and the iron railroad bridge at Fonda. The Cayadutta Creek was never before so high. The Creek rose from 12 to 15 feet in 30 minutes. By the washing away of bridges on the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad, both north and south of Johnstown, that place is completely shut off from railway communication. The last train from Gloversville reached Johnstown at 7 o'clock last night.

The Cayadutta empties into the Mohawk at Fonda, and Fonda is flooded. Great damage has been done to hay fields which are flooded. Two bridges on the Mohawk turnpike were carried away. Travel is stopped. Central Railroad and Johnstown Railroad bridges were both destroyed. Passengers are transferred. G. F. Mill & Company's plaster mill was wrecked. The damage is great. At Sammonsville, four miles below Johnstown, a water wheel at the big mill was carried away, but no other damage was found. At Berryville, a mile below Sammonsville, the dam at Clapper's shoddy mill was washed out.

The general belief is that the flood was caused by a cloud-burst near Johnstown. This theory is confirmed by the fact that at Hale's mills, three and one-half miles up the creek no damage was done and the dam at that place is all right.

JOHNSTOWN, July 10.—The following account of the cloud-burst is given by Conductor Allen, of the Johnstown, Fonda & Gloversville Railroad: "We met with no mishap, and the Johnstown depot was reached at 7 P. M. The railroad bridge just above the depot was gone and stopped further progress. Both the railroad bridge and a wooden bridge alongside were out. Part of Simon Schriver's skin mill which was washed away above had lodged against the stone arches. I left my train and went to the village by going around. The railroad bridge went out about 6:30 P. M. It had rained constantly and very hard from 3:30 until 6 o'clock. I heard of a bridge on the Creek going out about 8 o'clock in the evening. I was then back by the railroad bridge. We heard there were a lot of people in the water. A lot of us stood looking at the water as it rushed beneath the bridge and saw two men float by. One, a Mr. Abbott, was rescued at the stone arch of Main-street bridge, by a rope thrown to him. The body of the other was found this morning. I hear they found three bodies this morning in an eddy midway between the washed-out railroad bridge and the wooden bridges, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile." F. E. Eatton was on the train. He, with two others, had started to go down the Creek from Johnstown at 8 P. M. to pick up floating skins. He had been on the bridge 15 minutes before it went down. There were about 30 on the bridge. Flood wood from the skin mill was lodging against it. One-half of it lodged; the rest went into the cemetery. Mr. Schriver was caught in the midst of water, and had to spend a good share of the night there with the water around him. He says he was at the depot when the bridge went down and saw a man float by. He afterwards learned the man was rescued below. There were a large number of people on the bridge and it is not known how many went down. No other loss of life than from those on the bridge is reported. No important buildings except the skin mill are washed out. Above Johnstown the culverts and bridges are washed away and the Creek is lined with debris from the flood. The Creek rose rapidly as if an immense reservoir had been poured into it suddenly and the rain was most terrific nearly all night. A young man has just come into the office and says besides three bodies found this forenoon two more have just been found at this place. Dennis Simmons, aged 31, of R. D. Simmons & Company, and a boy named Miller are said to be missing. The bodies found this forenoon are Charles Frear, carpenter, 57 years of age; Albert Steadwell, aged 17, and Alfred Coldaugh, aged 16. No special damage is reported at Johnstown. Damages to railroad and other property are estimated to exceed $100,000. Schriver's loss is $15,000. Three bridges and four dams were destroyed. The centre of the storm was about four miles north-east of Johnstown. Coroner Dr. J. Lefler says he does not hear of the two bodies found at Fonda and does not believe it is so. There will be no inquest. The people were warned off the bridge by the police and others and some obeyed.

LONDON, July 10.—Dispatches from India say that the River Indus has overflowed its banks, and that the adjacent country is under 10 feet of water. Forty persons have been drowned at Larkhana.

ALONG IRON HIGHWAYS IN THE U. S.

In Reference to Leases—A Proposition About Freights—To Extend a Line, Etc.

In a recent letter on the subject of continuous car heating, Professor Lanza makes the statement that, according to experiments thus far, only a small percentage of the steam generated by a locomotive is required for heating purposes in this line. The pipe supplying the steam from the engine should not, he says, be less than one and one-half inches in diameter, while that of the radiating pipes in the cars should be two inches; the connections between the cars should be rubber, as all metal joints will leak in course of time, however careful the original workmanship may have been. Again, direct steam must be used, all plans for effectively employing the exhaust in this way having failed. The principal difficulty met with on introducing this system was to get rid of the water formed by condensation, but satisfactory traps are now supplied.

A dispatch from Utica this forenoon stated: "The railroad situation is that Central tracks are washed away at Fonda and Akin. Great damage was done not only at Johnstown but down the Mohawk Valley to Amsterdam. All Central trains are running over the West Shore, which is not injured, though the track was covered for 15 miles last night."

The representatives of the Concord and the Boston & Maine Railroads have agreed upon a bill to amend the Colby act of 1883, by permitting any railroad in New-Hampshire to lease another and to ascertain and pay for the interest of the minority or dissenting stockholders.

At a meeting of the Western Freight Association, yesterday, the proposition of the Chicago & Alton to reduce the rates on cattle, dressed-beef, and packing-house products from the Missouri River to Chicago was voted down. The Alton thereupon gave 10 days' notice of its intention to put the reduced rates into effect.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Road yesterday notified the Trans-Missouri Railway Association that it had been forced to give points on its line in Kansas rates proportionate to the rate set by the Kansas Commissioners for Wichita. The question was referred to the general managers.

At Hartford yesterday the stockholders of the Hartford & Connecticut Western voted in favor of immediately extending the line from Tariffville, Conn., to Springfield, Mass., 14,874 shares voting "yes" and 167 "no."

The New-York, Lake Erie & Western Railroad yesterday announced a reduction in the rate on corn and wheat from Chicago to New-York only, from 25 to 20 cents, the new rate to take effect on July 12.

STATE OFFICIALS UNDER CHARGES.

The Grand Jury Investigating Alleged Corruption in the Colorado Legislature.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DENVER, Col., July 10.—Most of the time of the present Grand Jury has been occupied in investigating charges of corruption made against certain State officials and members of the last Legislature regarding the purchase of furniture for the Legislative building, stationery and other supplies for Members of the Assembly and public printing, which aggregated $60,000. In the absence of Secretary of State Rice, who is East, the Grand Jury demanded of his Deputy, J. J. Wyatt, the keys to the rooms where the furniture is said to be stored for the purpose of continuing their investigation. Wyatt disregarded the demands of the jury and was arrested for contempt and yesterday was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $100.

Kilrain Said to be Dead.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, July 10.—Rumors are in circulation that Kilrain has died of internal injuries he received in his fight with Sullivan. One of the reports is to the effect that he died in Texas while en route to his home in Baltimore and that death was caused by internal hemorrhage. No confirmation of the report can be obtained but telegrams have been sent to various points.

Early Bird, a roan colt, three years old, by Jay Bird, dam by Harold, has been sold to Bowerman Brothers for $3,000 by Brook Burry, of Lexington, Ky.

The pigeons of the Suburban Club, Fall River, Mass., were liberated in Washington, D. C., at 5:15 A. M. yesterday, and arrived home at 3:30 P. M. Distance, 356½ miles air line; average speed, 1,045 yards per minute. The first return was to the loft of Joseph Stafford. Only one other better journey from that distance has been made to Fall River. That was by Samuel Hunt's Hermit in 1883, which made an average speed of 1,085 yards per minute.

The Massachusetts riflemen won prizes at Wimbledon, England, and the Philadelphia cricketers defeated the Scotch team at Edinburgh, Scotland, yesterday afternoon.

IN M'QUADE TRIAL AT BALLSTON.

Farmers Offer all Kinds of Excuses to Get Rid of Jury Duty.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 10.—The McQuade trial is progressing very slowly. Long before the hour of the convening of court this morning the Court House was filled with spectators. One hundred extra jurymen were present. It seemed as if every man had an excuse. Frank A. White, the first juryman accepted yesterday, was excused on account of illness. There will be more difficulty in getting the jury than was anticipated. This being a very busy season with farmers they offer every imaginable excuse.

Burglars Get More than They Bargained For.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

OLATHE, Kans., July 10.—Early yesterday morning two Kansas City burglars, John Chambers and John Chesser, entered the house of Edward Hyatte, a farmer, living 10 miles north of here, through the window of the sleeping room of Mr. and Mrs. Hyatte. The noise aroused Hyatte, who fired three shots at the burglars. Chesser fled but Chambers attempted to wrest the revolver from Hyatte's hand. The two men tumbled about the floor until they finally burst through the kitchen door. Chambers gained possession of the weapon and pointed it at Hyatte, when his wife felled the burglar with a blow on the head with a heavy walking stick. Lights were procured and it was found that the shots fired by Hyatte had taken effect in the body of the burglar, one in the arm, one in the leg and one in the stomach. From the latter wound the burglar died last night.

A Tragedy in Kansas.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

LEAVENWORTH, Kans., July 10.—Two months ago Eva Currie was married to George B. Callahan. Previous to her marriage William Parish, a young man without means or occupation, was a suitor for her hand. A few nights after her marriage Parish attempted to commit suicide in a house of ill-fame, but did not succeed. Last night he went to Mrs. Callahan's house about 10:30 o'clock and called her to the porch. When she appeared he shot her in the breast killing her instantly. Parish fled to a low dive and at midnight shot himself through the head just as the officers were about to arrest him. He is dead.

Convention of Hebrews.

DETROIT, July 10.—The Union of American Hebrew Congregations met here yesterday in annual convention. Over 200 delegates were present. The following were elected: President, David Klein, Philadelphia; Vice-President, Sigemund Levyn, Buffalo; Secretary, L. Levy, Cincinnati; Assistant Secretary, Frank Block, St. Louis. Rabbi Wise, of Cincinnati, was given an enthusiastic welcome. Professor Liefsiger, of New-York, made a strong plea for the New-York Jewish Technical School which needs building up.

A Prisoner Declared to be Insane.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 10.—Judge Thomas Raines and Drs. W. J. Herriman and Jonas Jones, Commissioners appointed by the Court to pass upon the mental condition of William Manley who shot and killed Officer O'Neil in December last presented their report this morning. An immense amount of testimony was taken and the Commissioners after due deliberation decided that Manley was insane at the time of the commission of the homicide. The report has not been confirmed but undoubtedly will be and Manley will be removed to an insane asylum.

One Man's Rash Act.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., July 10.—A man was found shot in the head on the street here yesterday afternoon. He will probably die. From letters found on his person it appears he is a well-to-do farmer of Kansas named George E. Traver. He had written to a brother in Minneapolis, saying he was insane, and that he preferred to kill himself rather than be sent to a hospital. His mother lives in Mexico, N. Y. How he came here is a mystery.

A Horrible Scene at an Execution.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 10.—John Kelly, convicted of the murder of Eleanor O'Shea near Geneva, November 6, 1888, was hanged at Canandaigua at noon to-day. Blood spurted from the man's neck as soon as the drop fell and the scene was horrible in the extreme.

Disappearance of a Horse Dealer.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., July 10.—A great commotion has been created here by the disappearance of L. J. Newald, a well-known dealer in horses, who, it is claimed, has a large sum of money obtained from business associates. The amount is estimated at $70,000.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WINNIPEG, July 10.—Judge Baine has given an order for the extradition of Burke.

IN FAVOR OF RECIPROCITY WITH U. S.

Action Taken by the Members of the British Columbia Board of Trade.

By Cable to The Freeman.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 10.—The report submitted by the President and unanimously adopted at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Board of Trade is pronouncedly in favor of reciprocity with the United States. Referring to the fishery industry of the Province it is stated that in the absence of any useful effort on the part of the Federal Government private enterprise has explored and demonstrated that the black cod and halibut banks are practically unlimited. The Board expresses the earnest hope that the Dominion Government will endeavor to bring about an interchange of fishery products with the United States, as there is no other market. Reference is made to the vast iron deposits in the Province which would be utilized to the advantage of both countries were reciprocity adopted. As to lumber, reciprocity would be of incalculable benefit. The report urges the Board to represent in the proper quarter the disadvantages under which the Province is placed, both by its isolated position and the present fiscal policy of the country.

NORTH DAKOTA DEMOCRATS PLEASED.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BISMARCK, N. D., July 10.—The Constitutional Convention was not in session yesterday. The Democrats met in caucus and prepared their slate. The President will give them more than they asked for. The plan of assigning the committees cases the Democrats and establishes almost absolute harmony in that wing of the Convention. They will probably be given three or four chairmanships and their full quota on 23 committees. The farmers are inclined to claim the Committees on Corporations, Revenue and Taxation, School Lands, Elective Franchise, Executive Department and Temperance. They have no inclination to control the Committee on Judiciary Department or the Legislative Departments beyond a fair representation.

THE DERVISHES VERY AGGRESSIVE.

Thirty of Them Killed at Serra by the Shaggiehis, Friendly to Egyptians.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE Legislature of Rhode Island went into extra session yesterday on the call of the Governor, for the purpose of framing a license law, whisky being free in the state since the repeal of Prohibition.

IN the McQuade trial at Ballston yesterday five jurors were obtained. They are Frank A. White, insurance agent; David D. Eggleston, farmer; Enos Jerome, teamster; James Gellan, farmer, and Adam Phin, mechanic. This exhausted the first panel of thirty-six.

DIRECTORY censuses have just given Buffalo 267,000 and Newburg 28,000 inhabitants. But the directory census is invariably a deceiver. Wait for the truth till Superintendent Porter gets through with his work next year.

LOUIS KAPLAN, police clerk of San Francisco, committed suicide yesterday because of a shortage of $2,000 in his accounts. Men who steal one hundred times as much do not shoot themselves. They go to Canada, compromise with the plundered parties for one-half, and become shining social and moral lights in the Dominion.

THE appointment of Horace A. Taylor to be a Railroad Commissioner retires Gen. Joe Johnston, late of the rebel army, to private life. Johnston was nearly 80 years old when appointed by Mr. Cleveland, and has rendered no official service except drawing his salary. His appointment was made in recognition of the Confederacy.

MRS. KILRAIN believes that her Jake was drugged. This is not unlikely. There was an unmistakable inclination in his crowd to play into the hands of the Sullivanites, and his trainer is susceptible to the suspicion of a bribe. Kilrain did no fighting at all, but hopped around the ring, keeping as far from Sullivan as possible. This may be drugs or it may be "science." It can hardly be called fighting.

GOV. LOWRY of Mississippi threatens to extradite Sullivan, Kilrain, and other prominent participants in the fight. This means that he will cause their arrest and issue requisitions upon the Governors in whose states they may be caught for their surrender to Mississippi. Now let's see if Lowry has the "sand" to do this. If he were to make three thousand arrests he would catch a Democrat every time.

A GANG of White Caps at Appleton, Wis., undertook last Saturday night to punish August Belz for alleged wife-beating. In response to their call Belz came to the door with a big knife in his hand and slashed among them in a manner that caused their instant departure. The White Caps escaped with their wounded, one of whom had a long and dangerous gash in his stomach, and Belz returned to the house unpunished.

THE Johnstown fund commissioners decided yesterday to distribute $500,000 by checks immediately among the sufferers in that city. In 205 cases $1,000 each is to be paid, and in other cases from $600 to $200 each. As there are 3,475 of these cases, another draft upon the fund will have to be made. The commissioners have decided to pay out $100,000 east of the mountains, of which Williamsport will receive $50,000.

JOHNSTOWN up in Fulton county has become emulous of its Pennsylvania namesake, and yesterday suffered itself to be washed out by a waterspout in the absence of a broken dam. Details indicate that probably fifteen lives are lost, a dozen bridges gone, and an immense amount of property destroyed. There are a dozen Johnstowns in the United States, but nine or ten have not reported. It is not too late for a few of them to change their names.

IN New York yesterday Patrick Packenham, James Nolan and John Lewis were sentenced to be hanged in the Tombs August 23d. Three other murderers who have been denied new trials by the Court of Appeals still await sentence. All are woman murderers excepting one. As August 23d falls on Friday, Gov. Hill will probably respite the doomed men for a few days. It is said that the Governor disapproves of Friday as hangman's day because he was born on that day.

THE coal companies and their striking miners in the Illinois regions have agreed to submit their long standing differences to arbitration. The arbitrators are to be three in number, of whom one will be chosen by the company, one by the strikers, and the third by the other two. One of the companies made an offer of profit sharing some weeks ago, but it was rejected. The miners are ignorant Europeans who cannot "figure," and are suspicious of being cheated in the "divide."

AND now the news comes that the Germans are ruling with as high a hand in the Marshall Islands as they did recently in Samoa, and are crowding out the American traders. As William Walter Phelps, late Commissioner to Berlin, is going to that city to remain permanently and look after American interests, the matter will probably be attended to. The American trade is in shells, sponge and coral. The Marshall Islands are in the Pacific southwest of the Sandwich Islands and in the direct route of American vessels from San Francisco to Southern China and the Sunda group.

EX-SECRETARY FAIRCHILD'S juggling efforts to make the tariff appear as an ugly breeder of the surplus and the internal revenue as a very trifling and harmless affair is well exposed in an article which we copy from the New York Sun. Mr. Fairchild estimated the tariff receipts for 1889 $4,000,000 too high and the internal revenue $12,000,000 too low. This was in harmony with Mr. Cleveland's free trade message and the entire course of the Democratic party in Congress, which was to cut down the tariff that protected the manufacturers, wool-growers and farmers, and preserve the internal tax which protected the whisky ring. It was in this same estimate that the sinking fund was treated as surplus, by which the same surplus was swelled to $104,000,000. Mr. Fairchild has never been reckoned as much of a statesman or financier. As a juggler of figures for the benefit of the free trade party he might have been a success if his dishonesty had been less transparent.

As Many as 30 People Reported Missing—Bodies Recovered, Etc.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, July 10.—A special from Johnstown, N. Y., says: "The water which came up over this village last night has subsided greatly this morning, but has left scenes of desolation in every direction. The water rose 15 feet and overflowed everything. It has fallen about eight feet below its highest point. Ten people are thus far reported missing. The bodies of four have been recovered. These four are all Johnstown people. Those whose bodies are recovered are Charles Frear and two other men named Coakley and Yost and a 14-year-old boy named Steadwell. The drowned and missing people were among a crowd of from 30 to 50 persons who stood on the stone bridge crossing the River at Perry-street, watching the rising waters. They seemed regardless of danger until the bridge gave way and they were precipitated into the flood. The bridge was about 20 feet high and 15 or 20 feet wide. It was a single arch structure and was crossed by a street-car track. The stone bridge was swept away at about 7 o'clock in the evening. Two iron bridges of the Johnstown, Fonda & Gloversville Railroad were wrecked and seven or eight other bridges were carried away. Two tanneries owned by Simon Schreiber were swept away, and the Schreiber and Anderson dams were broken down. The water in the Cayadutta Creek began to rise at 4:30 o'clock and the stream was soon converted into a raging torrent. Of the men, women and children who were thrown into the water by the breaking of the stone bridge the larger number were saved by means of ropes thrown to them from the shore. The firemen, under the direction of Chief H. A. Thompson, are searching for more bodies. The water is still very rough and dangerous for boats. At Fonda it is reported 500 feet of the New-York Central track is washed out. The final and fatal rise in the Cayadutta was very sudden and is attributed to the effects of a cloud-burst. Besides the sweeping away of the bridge and the tanneries there is much damage to buildings which are yet left standing. The electric light plant was washed out and the town left in darkness for the night. All communication by wire is cut off save through the long-distance telephone."

TROY, July 10.—A special dispatch to the Troy Times from Johnstown says: A cloudburst in the Cayadutta Valley, near Johnstown, Fulton County, yesterday afternoon, flooded the lower part of the valley and swept away several bridges. The railroad bridge at Johnstown and the one over the Cayadutta Creek, at Fonda, were washed away. The Central Railroad was washed out for 300 feet at a point one-half mile east of Tribes Hill, and a half a mile further east near Akin, another washout occurred, tearing out the track for 150 feet.

The wash-out delayed all trains. Late in the afternoon, however, the Central trains bound east were transferred from Akin to Fuller's Station on the West Shore Railroad and brought over that line to South-Schenectady, where connections were made with Albany. This morning the trains were running over the West Shore, as stated above, about half an hour behind time, the delay being caused by the transfer at Fuller's Station.

Great excitement prevails throughout the Cayadutta Valley. It is not known how many lives are lost but the bodies of three men have already been recovered. The Fire Department has been called out and is searching for the bodies of others, for it is believed a great many were drowned.

The heavy rain that prevailed all the afternoon had raised Cayadutta Creek until it was a roaring torrent. At the foot of Perry-street about 6 o'clock last evening some 50 persons, men, women and children, gathered on the stone bridge over Cayadutta Creek to watch the flood. The water came with tremendous force against the abutments of the bridge but as it was a stone structure of great strength, no one suspected that it was in danger. The bridge was suddenly swept away, but quite a number of those on the structure escaped to the street and were saved. The report of the disaster spread through the village. The rain continued to fall in torrents, and the valley was in darkness, the heavy clouds hanging low over the village. Many could not believe that the bridge had been destroyed until they had personally visited the scene of the disaster. Perry-street and the bank of the creek were soon crowded with persons looking for their friends, and the greatest excitement prevailed. The search for the missing was begun at once, and in the excitement it was not easy to find members of the same family who had become separated in the crowd. The estimates of the number of drowned range all the way from 6 to 30. Efforts are being made to obtain a correct list of the drowned. The bodies of three men were recovered this morning. One of them has been identified as a glove cutter named Frear. All hands are out doing their best to find the bodies of others known to be missing. The flood carried away two skin mills, one belonging to Simon Schriver. Both mills were in the village limits and on the bank of Cayadutta Creek. Several coal sheds and small buildings were also swept away. The big iron railroad bridge at Johnstown was swept away as was also the iron railroad bridge over Cayadutta Creek at Fonda. All the wagon bridges over the Creek between Johnstown and Fonda were carried away. Great damage has been done all through the valley.

A man has just arrived at Johnstown from Gloversville. He says quite a number of small buildings have been carried away at that point, but no loss of life is reported except at Johnstown. Two dams across Cayadutta Creek were swept away, the one at Schriver's mill taking the mill with it, and the other about midway between Johnstown and Gloversville. The giving way of the latter dam increased the flood that swept away the stone bridge at Perry-street. At 9 o'clock the bodies recovered had been identified as follows: Charles Frear, a glove cutter; a boy named Steadwell, 14 years old, and Alfred Cokeley.

It rained nearly all night, but this morning the rain ceased and the flood went down. Evidences of the ravages of the flood are seen all through the valley along the creek. Some of the bodies of the drowned have probably been carried down into the Mohawk at Fonda. The rain began falling at Johnstown at 2 P. M. and it rained hard and steadily until 6 o'clock. Between 6 and 7 o'clock reports came up-town that the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad bridge had been washed away and that the large stone bridge at State-street had also gone out. These reports which caused the most intense excitement proved to be true. The flood had started east of the village and washed away a new addition to Schriver's leather dressing mill, and also taking Schriver's dam. Then it turned to the south on the Cayadutta Creek and took away the iron railroad bridge and the State-street bridge. The stone dam at Liebenheim's leather dressing mill then went down with the flood and a saw-mill was taken with it. It was now 8 o'clock in the evening, and the town was in a ferment of alarm. Thousands of people lined the shores of the Cayadutta and watched the boiling flood. Many persons were on the Perry-street bridge. Suddenly this bridge gave way, and the people on the structure were thrown into the current. Some escaped, and others were carried down stream.

The scene of the disaster at the Perry-street bridge attracted the villagers to the spot. Rescuing and searching parties were organized immediately. The following persons were pulled out of the seething stream, and though exhausted were soon resuscitated: Benjamin Nellis, 25 years old; John Vosburgh; A. Putnam, 35 years old and employed in Miller & Argersinger's skin mill, and E. Davins, 22 years old, and a mason employed by McLean. Three bodies have been recovered, as follows: Albert Steadwell, son of the widow Steadwell, of Church-street. He was 16 years old and employed in Argersinger's glove factory. Albert Cokeley, a glove cutter at John H. Decker, Son & Co.'s. Cokeley was 30 years old. He is survived by a wife. Charles Frear, a carpenter employed by Seaman & Company. Frear was 55 years old. He is survived by a wife and a daughter.

Among the missing are: R. D. Simmons, of the firm of R. D. Simmons & Company, painters. Mr. Simmons is 35 years of age. William Myers, nine years old and a son of the Widow Myers. Miss Ada Miller, 22 years old and an employe in a glove factory.

The number lost cannot yet be determined as the estimates vary from six to 30. The creek is being dragged but it is believed some bodies have floated into the Mohawk at Fonda.

The bodies recovered were taken in charge by Dr. J. Lefler, the Coroner. The bodies were removed to the police station and identified and were then taken to the late homes of the deceased. The loss in money at Johnstown will reach many thousands of dollars. Thousands of skins that were being dressed are floating down the Cayadutta. Among the bridges carried away was an iron bridge at Stewart's leather mill, and the iron railroad bridge at Fonda. The Cayadutta Creek was never before so high. The Creek rose from 12 to 15 feet in 30 minutes. By the washing away of bridges on the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville Railroad, both north and south of Johnstown, that place is completely shut off from railway communication. The last train from Gloversville reached Johnstown at 7 o'clock last night.

The Cayadutta empties into the Mohawk at Fonda, and Fonda is flooded. Great damage has been done to hay fields which are flooded. Two bridges on the Mohawk turnpike were carried away. Travel is stopped. Central Railroad and Johnstown Railroad bridges were both destroyed. Passengers are transferred. G. F. Mill & Company's plaster mill was wrecked. The damage is great. At Sammonsville, four miles below Johnstown, a water wheel at the big mill was carried away, but no other damage was found. At Berryville, a mile below Sammonsville, the dam at Clapper's shoddy mill was washed out.

The general belief is that the flood was caused by a cloud-burst near Johnstown. This theory is confirmed by the fact that at Hale's mills, three and one-half miles up the creek no damage was done and the dam at that place is all right.

JOHNSTOWN, July 10.—The following account of the cloud-burst is given by Conductor Allen, of the Johnstown, Fonda & Gloversville Railroad: "We met with no mishap, and the Johnstown depot was reached at 7 P. M. The railroad bridge just above the depot was gone and stopped further progress. Both the railroad bridge and a wooden bridge alongside were out. Part of Simon Schriver's skin mill which was washed away above had lodged against the stone arches. I left my train and went to the village by going around. The railroad bridge went out about 6:30 P. M. It had rained constantly and very hard from 3:30 until 6 o'clock. I heard of a bridge on the Creek going out about 8 o'clock in the evening. I was then back by the railroad bridge. We heard there were a lot of people in the water. A lot of us stood looking at the water as it rushed beneath the bridge and saw two men float by. One, a Mr. Abbott, was rescued at the stone arch of Main-street bridge, by a rope thrown to him. The body of the other was found this morning. I hear they found three bodies this morning in an eddy midway between the washed-out railroad bridge and the wooden bridges, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile." F. E. Eatton was on the train. He, with two others, had started to go down the Creek from Johnstown at 8 P. M. to pick up floating skins. He had been on the bridge 15 minutes before it went down. There were about 30 on the bridge. Flood wood from the skin mill was lodging against it. One-half of it lodged; the rest went into the cemetery. Mr. Schriver was caught in the midst of water, and had to spend a good share of the night there with the water around him. He says he was at the depot when the bridge went down and saw a man float by. He afterwards learned the man was rescued below. There were a large number of people on the bridge and it is not known how many went down. No other loss of life than from those on the bridge is reported. No important buildings except the skin mill are washed out. Above Johnstown the culverts and bridges are washed away and the Creek is lined with debris from the flood. The Creek rose rapidly as if an immense reservoir had been poured into it suddenly and the rain was most terrific nearly all night. A young man has just come into the office and says besides three bodies found this forenoon two more have just been found at this place. Dennis Simmons, aged 31, of R. D. Simmons & Company, and a boy named Miller are said to be missing. The bodies found this forenoon are Charles Frear, carpenter, 57 years of age; Albert Steadwell, aged 17, and Alfred Coldaugh, aged 16. No special damage is reported at Johnstown. Damages to railroad and other property are estimated to exceed $100,000. Schriver's loss is $15,000. Three bridges and four dams were destroyed. The centre of the storm was about four miles north-east of Johnstown. Coroner Dr. J. Lefler says he does not hear of the two bodies found at Fonda and does not believe it is so. There will be no inquest. The people were warned off the bridge by the police and others and some obeyed.

ALONG IRON HIGHWAYS IN THE U. S.

In Reference to Leases—A Proposition About Freights—To Extend a Line, Etc.

In a recent letter on the subject of continuous car heating, Professor Lanza makes the statement that, according to experiments thus far, only a small percentage of the steam generated by a locomotive is required for heating purposes in this line. The pipe supplying the steam from the engine should not, he says, be less than one and one-half inches in diameter, while that of the radiating pipes in the cars should be two inches; the connections between the cars should be rubber, as all metal joints will leak in course of time, however careful the original workmanship may have been. Again, direct steam must be used, all plans for effectively employing the exhaust in this way having failed. The principal difficulty met with on introducing this system was to get rid of the water formed by condensation, but satisfactory traps are now supplied.

A dispatch from Utica this forenoon stated: "The railroad situation is that Central tracks are washed away at Fonda and Akin. Great damage was done not only at Johnstown but down the Mohawk Valley to Amsterdam. All Central trains are running over the West Shore, which is not injured, though the track was covered for 15 miles last night."

Farmers Offer all Kinds of Excuses to Get Rid of Jury Duty.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 10.—The McQuade trial is progressing very slowly. Long before the hour of the convening of court this morning the Court House was filled with spectators. One hundred extra jurymen were present. It seemed as if every man had an excuse. Frank A. White, the first juryman accepted yesterday, was excused on account of illness. There will be more difficulty in getting the jury than was anticipated. This being a very busy season with farmers they offer every imaginable excuse.

Burglars Get More than They Bargained For.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

OLATHE, Kans., July 10.—Early yesterday morning two Kansas City burglars, John Chambers and John Chesser, entered the house of Edward Hyatte, a farmer, living 10 miles north of here, through the window of the sleeping room of Mr. and Mrs. Hyatte. The noise aroused Hyatte, who fired three shots at the burglars. Chesser fled but Chambers attempted to wrest the revolver from Hyatte's hand. The two men tumbled about the floor until they finally burst through the kitchen door. Chambers gained possession of the weapon and pointed it at Hyatte, when his wife felled the burglar with a blow on the head with a heavy walking stick. Lights were procured and it was found that the shots fired by Hyatte had taken effect in the body of the burglar, one in the arm, one in the leg and one in the stomach. From the latter wound the burglar died last night.

Parish fled to a low dive and at midnight shot himself through the head just as the officers were about to arrest him. He is dead.

IN FAVOR OF RECIPROCITY WITH U. S.

Action Taken by the Members of the British Columbia Board of Trade.

By Cable to The Freeman.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 10.—The report submitted by the President and unanimously adopted at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Board of Trade is pronouncedly in favor of reciprocity with the United States. Referring to the fishery industry of the Province it is stated that in the absence of any useful effort on the part of the Federal Government private enterprise has explored and demonstrated that the black cod and halibut banks are practically unlimited. The Board expresses the earnest hope that the Dominion Government will endeavor to bring about an interchange of fishery products with the United States, as there is no other market. Reference is made to the vast iron deposits in the Province which would be utilized to the advantage of both countries were reciprocity adopted. As to lumber, reciprocity would be of incalculable benefit. The report urges the Board to represent in the proper quarter the disadvantages under which the Province is placed, both by its isolated position and the present fiscal policy of the country.

NORTH DAKOTA DEMOCRATS PLEASED.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BISMARCK, N. D., July 10.—The Constitutional Convention was not in session yesterday. The Democrats met in caucus and prepared their slate. The President will give them more than they asked for. The plan of assigning the committees eases the Democrats and establishes almost absolute harmony in that wing of the Convention. They will probably be given three or four chairmanships and their full quota on 23 committees. The farmers are inclined to claim the Committees on Corporations, Revenue and Taxation, School Lands, Elective Franchise, Executive Department and Temperance. They have no inclination to control the Committee on Judiciary Department or the Legislative Departments beyond a fair representation.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 10, 1889.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, July 10. — Indications for Thursday: Showers, warmer, variable winds.

FOR A TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY.

"Can the Republicans secure a majority in both houses next winter?" asks the Tribune, in an article on the coming legislative elections. There is no good reason why they should not. The late Senate contained 20 Republicans and 12 Democrats after the thirteenth (Orange and Sullivan) had been lost in a special election. A two-thirds majority in the Senate is 22, hence it is necessary to gain two districts. They will certainly regain the sixteenth (Rensselaer and Washington), the eighteenth (Saratoga, Montgomery, Schenectady and Fulton), and the twenty-ninth, (Monroe and Orleans.) The Republican majorities in these districts last fall on President were respectively 4,048, 4,276 and 6,033. They are always Republican districts in a general election, and their failure to elect Republican Senators in 1887 was due to dissensions that do not now exist. The thirteenth district (Orange and Sullivan) gave Harrison 512 majority, and appears to have become permanently Republican in both counties. The defeat last winter was due wholly to inclement weather, which prevented the Republican voters from coming out in the thinly settled sections remote from the polls. The recovery of these four districts would give the Republicans 24 Senators, an excess of two over the requisite two-thirds majority. But the Democrats are hopeful of gaining the first, third, fourth, twelfth and seventeenth districts, now represented by Senators Hawkins, O'Connor, Worth, Robertson and Russell. The first is a Democratic district, and elected Mr. Hawkins by a plurality of only 114 in 1887. The third is Republican; Mr. O'Connor's majority was 2,939. The fourth is close, and apparently contingent on the candidacy of Mr. Worth, as a Democrat is usually elected when he does not run. Mr. Worth's latest majority was 900. The twelfth is also reckoned Democratic, and gave Cleveland 2,074 last fall. Judge Robertson, however, has never been defeated in the district, and will carry it once more if he is a candidate. It is not likely that Mr. Russell can be re-elected, as the Republican party is badly divided in Albany county. Summed up, therefore, the Republicans are morally certain of recovering three districts now represented by Democrats, with more than an even chance for a fourth. The Democrats are likely to gain the Long Island and Albany districts, though one of these can be saved by proper effort. The necessary gain of two districts appears therefore within reach. In the late Assembly the Republicans lacked seven of a two-thirds majority. The Republican districts that were needlessly lost last fall were the second Erie, the seventh, eighth, tenth and twelfth Kings, the second Niagara, the first Oneida, the second Queens, Seneca, the second Ulster and the first Westchester. Every one of these can be regained if the questions at issue are fairly presented. In several of them the Democratic plurality was less than the Prohibition vote.

The hope of Republican gain is strengthened by the breaking away of thousands of earnest Prohibitionists and temperance men from the Democratic side-show with which they have long been connected. Their national leader, Gen. Fisk, has sounded the war-note of a new campaign, which is to be made against the whisky power and pledged to use any means that may promise useful results for temperance. The Prohibition party will attempt a show of keeping up the organization, but the voters will be at the polls with high license ballots in their hands. They are tired of fighting for what the elections in Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New-Hampshire have shown to be unattainable, and will vote for results. The union of one-third of the old Prohibition vote with the Republican party will sweep away the Democratic majority in the state and annihilate David B. Hill. And more than that proportion of the vote is coming.

SLAVERY IN THE WAR.

Senator Hiscock is being overhauled by newspaper critics for a portion of his speech at the Woodstock celebration. The paragraph that gives offense is as follows:

> Seventy years after the work of the fathers was completed their ancestors and descendants, under the leadership of their President, statesmen and Generals, of their own accord—not by conquest, or moved by an unworthy motive, but animated by the loftiest patriotism and purest morality—made a successful war upon the crime sanctioned by the fathers, and did it at a cost of eight thousand millions of dollars, the lives of 600,000 men, and more than a million of men disabled permanently. In this broad land of ours there is not one who regrets the treasure. We mourn the honored dead, but we all rejoice that the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution, as framed by the fathers, guide our national policy, strengthen our national character, and, wherever this day is observed, north or south, east or west, in city or hamlet, not a voice will be heard in protest or complaint that those amendments were granted at too great a cost.

Mr. Hiscock is told that his assertion that the war was begun and carried on for the purpose of exterminating slavery is historically inaccurate. But this is hypercriticism. The war, technically considered, was for the preservation of the Union, but history proves that the extermination of slavery was the only condition on which the Union could be preserved. The war was not begun with the attack upon Sumter, but when the sons of New England and other free states went to Kansas armed with "Beecher's Bibles" and drew the line—when they said to slavery, "Thus far shalt thou come and no farther." These warriors for freedom knew that their decision meant the doom of slavery, for it must inevitably die unless given room to expand equally with the growth of free states. Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward hesitated long before declaring against slavery after war had actually begun, but this was in deference to the border states which remained in the Union; the government could not afford to challenge their hostility. But all the same, Mr. Lincoln had declared years before that no government could exist "half slave and half free," and Mr. Seward had proclaimed on the floor of the Senate that an "irrepressible conflict" was pending. From the moment that the border ruffians made their first invasion of Kansas it was seen everywhere, at the South as well as the North, that the war had begun which was to either terminate slavery or spread its power over the whole domain of the republic. The war against the rebellion was fought by every intelligent man engaged in it with this end in view—with the knowledge that victory to the Union meant the doom of slavery.

Mr. Hiscock is therefore historically correct. He speaks according to the understanding of men who were participants in the conflict or intelligent watchers thereof. It would have been a poor sort of victory that should have left slavery intact in a single state or on a single acre of ground in the South. It would have left the cause of the war open and compelled it to be fought over again before the end of the century. Mr. Lincoln could hardly have rallied an army for such a cause as that. Our "boys" knew what they were fighting for, and kept fighting until they won it.

FREE SUGAR.

> A sugar trust is robbing every family in the United States. The aggregate of the robbery is enormous. Free sugar is the specific called for. Put sugar on the free list and the price will fall 50 per cent in a month.—Washington Press.

In the late Congress the Republicans proposed to put sugar on the free list, but the Democrats said no. They proposed a large reduction of the duty on sugar in the Senate bill, but the Democrats would not have it. The utmost that they would consent to was a reduction of a quarter of a cent per pound on raw sugar in the Mills bill, and to get this valueless concession the Republicans would have had to consent to the passage of the entire bill and the prostration of two-thirds of the industries of the North. The sugar duty was kept at its present enormous figure to protect a few Democratic planters in Louisiana and the great sugar trust, which contributed a generous sum to the Democratic campaign fund.

And so the price of sugar goes up and up, till it has become a prohibited article of food in thousands of American households. The sugar tariff is a tax because it protects nothing; because, in spite of it, the bulk of our sugar is imported from abroad and the duty upon it must be paid. If sugar could be produced in the United States in quantity sufficient to supply the home demand, like iron, wool, salt and grain, the tax would cease to affect the price in consequence of home competition. The Democratic party is unquestionably very earnest in its advocacy of free trade, but it is always ready to waive the principle for the benefit of any purely Democratic state or community that prefers protection.

The country will secure free sugar when the Republican Congress gets to work, and American sugar growers will also receive the encouragement of a bounty equivalent to the protection that they enjoy. It is cheaper to pay the tax on the few thousand pounds produced in this country than on the many millions imported.

FAIRCHILD'S FIGURES.

He Falsely Parades the Tariff as a Surplus Breeder—What the Results Prove.

[From the New York Sun.]

The government's receipts during the fiscal year that ended June 30 were derived as follows:

Customs	$224,971,235
Internal revenue	131,662,106
Miscellaneous	31,958,834
Total	$388,591,675

The expenditures during the same period were $300,064,795, including $17,292,763 paid as premium on bonds. This makes the excess of receipts over expenditures $88,526,880, and of this about $48,000,000 is appropriated by law to the sinking fund.

Some of our free trade contemporaries who have followed the cue of Grover Cleveland and ex-Secretary Fairchild in ciphering on paper a surplus so constructed as to look as portentous as possible are now saying that the Treasury statement for the year is a wonderful confirmation of Mr. Fairchild's estimates in his report of December 5, 1887, that is to say, the document on which Mr. Cleveland based his disastrous free trade message.

Mr. Fairchild then predicted a surplus for the fiscal year 1889 of $104,313,365, calling the sinking fund appropriation surplus.

His chorus, composed of the Mugwump and free trade press, now discover in this year's figures a surplus of $104,739,073, and they are chanting the praises of Mr. Fairchild's wonderful prescience.

Taking their own method of surplus computation, which includes every trick of bookkeeping that serves to swell the apparent balance on hand, let us see whether this close correspondence of the totals of prediction and result is a purely accidental circumstances, or whether it indicates financial sagacity and remarkable foresight on the part of Mr. Fairchild.

His estimate of receipts for the year was as follows:

Customs	$228,000,000
Internal revenue	120,000,000
Total	$383,000,000

Now, the purpose of the Treasury report of 1887 and of Mr. Cleveland's tariff message of that year was to exhibit the customs receipts as the surplus breeder, the great source of peril to the nation's finances. Mr. Cleveland's programme was to attack the tariff and to let the revenue alone. Mr. Fairchild, in his estimate of 1889, put the internal revenue figures at only a little more than $1,100,000 above the actual receipts from that source in 1887, while he estimated the customs revenue for 1889 at nearly $11,000,000 above the actual customs receipts for 1887.

According to the Cleveland-Fairchild programme, the surplus producing tariff receipts were to increase the $11,000,000 in the two years. As for the internal revenue, eleven hundred thousand dollars was enough to allow for its growth. Therefore, they said, Congress must smash the tariff and reserve the internal revenue.

As a matter of fact, the customs receipts for the year just ended fall more than $3,000,000 short of the Fairchild estimate: while the internal revenue receipts exceed his estimate by nearly $12,000,000.

It is these facts, so different from what Mr. Fairchild expected or desired, that account for the coincidence between the figures of his estimated surplus and those now paraded by the Mugwump and free trade newspapers. As between customs and internal revenue, Mr. Fairchild's prediction was more than $15,000,000 out of the way.

The more the Fairchild chorus chants his praise as a prophet and sound financier, the more clearly they will exhibit the main fact to which we wish to call attention.

Of the two great sources of government income, the internal revenue is now working the faster to make surplus.

Since 1887 the increase in the annual receipts from customs has only been $7,684,342.

Since 1887 the increase in the annual receipts from the internal revenue taxes has been $12,838,715.

This year the customs receipts, although larger by several millions than the returns for the earlier quarters indicated, fall far short of the estimate which Mr. Fairchild made for the purpose of a campaign against the tariff.

The internal revenue receipts, on the other hand, knock him out as a prophet with an $11,000,000 blow, and once more make it evident to the country that any sensible legislation intended to reduce the surplus must begin where the Sun has always said it ought to begin.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Whatever complaints Mugwumps and Democrats may make in regard to some of the President's appointments, they cannot deny that his removals are all based on fitness. Most of Cleveland's appointees were eligible to be fired for cause.—Indianapolis Journal.

We do not notice that the free trade papers give us any explanation of the curious phenomenon exhibited in the fact that hundreds of millions of dollars of English capital are flowing into this country to be invested under the blighting influence of protective tariff.—Boston Journal.

Even the Democratic papers are getting tired of prying into the domestic affairs at the White House and ask that less prominence be given Baby McKee. Had there been more in the administration to criticise, the correspondents would not have been driven to such trivial matters for newspaper material.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

There are no redeeming features connected with the contest, and the charges that the decent people of Massachusetts and Boston are congratulating themselves because the victorious slugger once kept a notorious rum shop in Boston, and hence is credited to Massachusetts, should be repudiated with scorn. We have no more reason for pride in Sullivan than in a bull dog or fighting cock which has won a bloody victory in som surreptitious scrimmage.—Springfield Union.

ITCHING AGONIES.

Every Night I Scratched Until the Skin was Raw.

Body Covered with Scales like Spots of Mortar. An Awful Spectacle. Doctors Useless. Cure Hopeless. Entirely Cured by the Cuticura Remedies in Five Weeks.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied by itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see and advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Relief Instantaneous, Cure Rapid, Radical and Permanent.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and injures the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Cure has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling, and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell and taste, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh

Consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and Improved Inhaler, all in one package; price $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure. Sold everywhere.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, July 10. — Indications for Thursday: Showers, warmer, variable winds.

FOR A TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY.

"Can the Republicans secure a majority in both houses next winter?" asks the Tribune, in an article on the coming legislative elections. There is no good reason why they should not. The late Senate contained 20 Republicans and 12 Democrats after the thirteenth (Orange and Sullivan) had been lost in a special election. A two-thirds majority in the Senate is 22, hence it is necessary to gain two districts. They will certainly regain the sixteenth (Rensselaer and Washington), the eighteenth (Saratoga, Montgomery, Schenectady and Fulton), and the twenty-ninth, (Monroe and Orleans.) The Republican majorities in these districts last fall on President were respectively 4,048, 4,276 and 6,033. They are always Republican districts in a general election, and their failure to elect Republican Senators in 1887 was due to dissensions that do not now exist. The thirteenth district (Orange and Sullivan) gave Harrison 512 majority, and appears to have become permanently Republican in both counties. The defeat last winter was due wholly to inclement weather, which prevented the Republican voters from coming out in the thinly settled sections remote from the polls. The recovery of these four districts would give the Republicans 24 Senators, an excess of two over the requisite two-thirds majority. But the Democrats are hopeful of gaining the first, third, fourth, twelfth and seventeenth districts, now represented by Senators Hawkins, O'Connor, Worth, Robertson and Russell. The first is a Democratic district, and elected Mr. Hawkins by a plurality of only 114 in 1887. The third is Republican; Mr. O'Connor's majority was 2,939. The fourth is close, and apparently contingent on the candidacy of Mr. Worth, as a Democrat is usually elected when he does not run. Mr. Worth's latest majority was 900. The twelfth is also reckoned Democratic, and gave Cleveland 2,074 last fall. Judge Robertson, however, has never been defeated in the district, and will carry it once more if he is a candidate. It is not likely that Mr. Russell can be re-elected, as the Republican party is badly divided in Albany county. Summed up, therefore, the Republicans are morally certain of recovering three districts now represented by Democrats, with more than an even chance for a fourth. The Democrats are likely to gain the Long Island and Albany districts, though one of these can be saved by proper effort. The necessary gain of two districts appears therefore within reach. In the late Assembly the Republicans lacked seven of a two-thirds majority. The Republican districts that were needlessly lost last fall were the second Erie, the seventh, eighth, tenth and twelfth Kings, the second Niagara, the first Oneida, the second Queens, Seneca, the second Ulster and the first Westchester. Every one of these can be regained if the questions at issue are fairly presented. In several of them the Democratic plurality was less than the Prohibition vote.

The hope of Republican gain is strengthened by the breaking away of thousands of earnest Prohibitionists and temperance men from the Democratic side-show with which they have long been connected. Their national leader, Gen. Fisk, has sounded the war-note of a new campaign, which is to be made against the whisky power and pledged to use any means that may promise useful results for temperance. The Prohibition party will attempt a show of keeping up the organization, but the voters will be at the polls with high license ballots in their hands. They are tired of fighting for what the elections in Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New-Hampshire have shown to be unattainable, and will vote for results. The union of one-third of the old Prohibition vote with the Republican party will sweep away the Democratic majority in the state and annihilate David B. Hill. And more than that proportion of the vote is coming.

SLAVERY IN THE WAR.

Senator Hiscock is being overhauled by newspaper critics for a portion of his speech at the Woodstock celebration. The paragraph that gives offense is as follows:

Seventy years after the work of the fathers was completed their ancestors and descendants, under the leadership of their President, statesmen and Generals, of their own accord—not by conquest, or moved by an unworthy motive, but animated by the loftiest patriotism and purest morality—made a successful war upon the crime sanctioned by the fathers, and did it at a cost of eight thousand millions of dollars, the lives of 600,000 men, and more than a million of men disabled permanently. In this broad land of ours there is not one who regrets the treasure. We mourn the honored dead, but we all rejoice that the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution, as framed by the fathers, guide our national policy, strengthen our national character, and, wherever this day is observed, north or south, east or west, in city or hamlet, not a voice will be heard in protest or complaint that those amendments were granted at too great a cost.

Mr. Hiscock is told that his assertion that the war was begun and carried on for the purpose of exterminating slavery is historically inaccurate. But this is hypercriticism. The war, technically considered, was for the preservation of the Union, but history proves that the extermination of slavery was the only condition on which the Union could be preserved. The war was not begun with the attack upon Sumter, but when the sons of New England and other free states went to Kansas armed with "Beecher's Bibles" and drew the line—when they said to slavery, "Thus far shalt thou come and no farther." These warriors for freedom knew that their decision meant the doom of slavery, for it must inevitably die unless given room to expand equally with the growth of free states. Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward hesitated long before declaring against slavery after war had actually begun, but this was in deference to the border states which remained in the Union; the government could not afford to challenge their hostility. But all the same, Mr. Lincoln had declared years before that no government could exist "half slave and half free," and Mr. Seward had proclaimed on the floor of the Senate that an "irrepressible conflict" was pending. From the moment that the border ruffians made their first invasion of Kansas it was seen everywhere, at the South as well as the North, that the war had begun which was to either terminate slavery or spread its power over the whole domain of the republic. The war against the rebellion was fought by every intelligent man engaged in it with this end in view—with the knowledge that victory to the Union meant the doom of slavery.

Mr. Hiscock is therefore historically correct. He speaks according to the understanding of men who were participants in the conflict or intelligent watchers thereof. It would have been a poor sort of victory that should have left slavery intact in a single state or on a single acre of ground in the South. It would have left the cause of the war open and compelled it to be fought over again before the end of the century. Mr. Lincoln could hardly have rallied an army for such a cause as that. Our "boys" knew what they were fighting for, and kept fighting until they won it.

FREE SUGAR.

A sugar trust is robbing every family in the United States. The aggregate of the robbery is enormous. Free sugar is the specific called for. Put sugar on the free list and the price will fall 50 per cent in a month.—Washington Press.

In the late Congress the Republicans proposed to put sugar on the free list, but the Democrats said no. They proposed a large reduction of the duty on sugar in the Senate bill, but the Democrats would not have it. The utmost that they would consent to was a reduction of a quarter of a cent per pound on raw sugar in the Mills bill, and to get this valueless concession the Republicans would have had to consent to the passage of the entire bill and the prostration of two-thirds of the industries of the North. The sugar duty was kept at its present enormous figure to protect a few Democratic planters in Louisiana and the great sugar trust, which contributed a generous sum to the Democratic campaign fund.

And so the price of sugar goes up and up, till it has become a prohibited article of food in thousands of American households. The sugar tariff is a tax because it protects nothing; because, in spite of it, the bulk of our sugar is imported from abroad and the duty upon it must be paid. If sugar could be produced in the United States in quantity sufficient to supply the home demand, like iron, wool, salt and grain, the tax would cease to affect the price in consequence of home competition. The Democratic party is unquestionably very earnest in its advocacy of free trade, but it is always ready to waive the principle for the benefit of any purely Democratic state or community that prefers protection.

The country will secure free sugar when the Republican Congress gets to work, and American sugar growers will also receive the encouragement of a bounty equivalent to the protection that they enjoy. It is cheaper to pay the tax on the few thousand pounds produced in this country than on the many millions imported.

FAIRCHILD'S FIGURES.

He Falsely Parades the Tariff as a Surplus Breeder—What the Results Prove.

[From the New York Sun.]

The government's receipts during the fiscal year that ended June 30 were derived as follows:

Customs	$224,971,235
Internal revenue	131,662,106
Miscellaneous	31,958,834
Total	$388,591,675

The expenditures during the same period were $300,064,795, including $17,292,763 paid as premium on bonds. This makes the excess of receipts over expenditures $88,526,880, and of this about $48,000,000 is appropriated by law to the sinking fund.

Some of our free trade contemporaries who have followed the cue of Grover Cleveland and ex-Secretary Fairchild in ciphering on paper a surplus so constructed as to look as portentous as possible are now saying that the Treasury statement for the year is a wonderful confirmation of Mr. Fairchild's estimates in his report of December 5, 1887, that is to say, the document on which Mr. Cleveland based his disastrous free trade message.

Mr. Fairchild then predicted a surplus for the fiscal year 1889 of $104,313,365, calling the sinking fund appropriation surplus.

His chorus, composed of the Mugwump and free trade press, now discover in this year's figures a surplus of $104,739,073, and they are chanting the praises of Mr. Fairchild's wonderful prescience.

Taking their own method of surplus computation, which includes every trick of bookkeeping that serves to swell the apparent balance on hand, let us see whether this close correspondence of the totals of prediction and result is a purely accidental circumstances, or whether it indicates financial sagacity and remarkable foresight on the part of Mr. Fairchild.

His estimate of receipts for the year was as follows:

Customs	$228,000,000
Internal revenue	120,000,000
Total	$383,000,000

Now, the purpose of the Treasury report of 1887 and of Mr. Cleveland's tariff message of that year was to exhibit the customs receipts as the surplus breeder, the great source of peril to the nation's finances. Mr. Cleveland's programme was to attack the tariff and to let the revenue alone. Mr. Fairchild, in his estimate of 1889, put the internal revenue figures at only a little more than $1,100,000 above the actual receipts from that source in 1887, while he estimated the customs revenue for 1889 at nearly $11,000,000 above the actual customs receipts for 1887.

According to the Cleveland-Fairchild programme, the surplus producing tariff receipts were to increase the $11,000,000 in the two years. As for the internal revenue, eleven hundred thousand dollars was enough to allow for its growth. Therefore, they said, Congress must smash the tariff and reserve the internal revenue.

As a matter of fact, the customs receipts for the year just ended fall more than $3,000,000 short of the Fairchild estimate: while the internal revenue receipts exceed his estimate by nearly $12,000,000.

It is these facts, so different from what Mr. Fairchild expected or desired, that account for the coincidence between the figures of his estimated surplus and those now paraded by the Mugwump and free trade newspapers. As between customs and internal revenue, Mr. Fairchild's prediction was more than $15,000,000 out of the way.

The more the Fairchild chorus chants his praise as a prophet and sound financier, the more clearly they will exhibit the main fact to which we wish to call attention.

Of the two great sources of government income, the internal revenue is now working the faster to make surplus.

Since 1887 the increase in the annual receipts from customs has only been $7,684,342.

Since 1887 the increase in the annual receipts from the internal revenue taxes has been $12,838,715.

This year the customs receipts, although larger by several millions than the returns for the earlier quarters indicated, fall far short of the estimate which Mr. Fairchild made for the purpose of a campaign against the tariff.

The internal revenue receipts, on the other hand, knock him out as a prophet with an $11,000,000 blow, and once more make it evident to the country that any sensible legislation intended to reduce the surplus must begin where the Sun has always said it ought to begin.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Whatever complaints Mugwumps and Democrats may make in regard to some of the President's appointments, they cannot deny that his removals are all based on fitness. Most of Cleveland's appointees were eligible to be fired for cause.—Indianapolis Journal.

We do not notice that the free trade papers give us any explanation of the curious phenomenon exhibited in the fact that hundreds of millions of dollars of English capital are flowing into this country to be invested under the blighting influence of protective tariff.—Boston Journal.

Even the Democratic papers are getting tired of prying into the domestic affairs at the White House and ask that less prominence be given Baby McKee. Had there been more in the administration to criticise, the correspondents would not have been driven to such trivial matters for newspaper material.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

There are no redeeming features connected with the contest, and the charges that the decent people of Massachusetts and Boston are congratulating themselves because the victorious slugger once kept a notorious rum shop in Boston, and hence is credited to Massachusetts, should be repudiated with scorn. We have no more reason for pride in Sullivan than in a bull dog or fighting cock which has won a bloody victory in som surreptitious scrimmage.—Springfield Union.

ITCHING AGONIES.

Every Night I Scratched Until the Skin was Raw.

Body Covered with Scales like Spots of Mortar. An Awful Spectacle. Doctors Useless. Cure Hopeless. Entirely Cured by the Cuticura Remedies in Five Weeks.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompained by itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see and advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Relief Instantaneous, Cure Rapid, Radical and Permanent.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and injures the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Cure has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling, and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell and taste, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh

Consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and Improved Inhaler, all in one package; price $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure. Sold everywhere.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, July 10. — Indications for Thursday: Showers, warmer, variable winds.

FOR A TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY.

"Can the Republicans secure a majority in both houses next winter?" asks the Tribune, in an article on the coming legislative elections. There is no good reason why they should not. The late Senate contained 20 Republicans and 12 Democrats after the thirteenth (Orange and Sullivan) had been lost in a special election. A two-thirds majority in the Senate is 22, hence it is necessary to gain two districts. They will certainly regain the sixteenth (Rensselaer and Washington), the eighteenth (Saratoga, Montgomery, Schenectady and Fulton), and the twenty-ninth, (Monroe and Orleans.) The Republican majorities in these districts last fall on President were respectively 4,048, 4,276 and 6,033. They are always Republican districts in a general election, and their failure to elect Republican Senators in 1887 was due to dissensions that do not now exist. The thirteenth district (Orange and Sullivan) gave Harrison 512 majority, and appears to have become permanently Republican in both counties. The defeat last winter was due wholly to inclement weather, which prevented the Republican voters from coming out in the thinly settled sections remote from the polls. The recovery of these four districts would give the Republicans 24 Senators, an excess of two over the requisite two-thirds majority. But the Democrats are hopeful of gaining the first, third, fourth, twelfth and seventeenth districts, now represented by Senators Hawkins, O'Connor, Worth, Robertson and Russell. The first is a Democratic district, and elected Mr. Hawkins by a plurality of only 114 in 1887. The third is Republican; Mr. O'Connor's majority was 2,939. The fourth is close, and apparently contingent on the candidacy of Mr. Worth, as a Democrat is usually elected when he does not run. Mr. Worth's latest majority was 900. The twelfth is also reckoned Democratic, and gave Cleveland 2,074 last fall. Judge Robertson, however, has never been defeated in the district, and will carry it once more if he is a candidate. It is not likely that Mr. Russell can be re-elected, as the Republican party is badly divided in Albany county. Summed up, therefore, the Republicans are morally certain of recovering three districts now represented by Democrats, with more than an even chance for a fourth. The Democrats are likely to gain the Long Island and Albany districts, though one of these can be saved by proper effort. The necessary gain of two districts appears therefore within reach. In the late Assembly the Republicans lacked seven of a two-thirds majority. The Republican districts that were needlessly lost last fall were the second Erie, the seventh, eighth, tenth and twelfth Kings, the second Niagara, the first Oneida, the second Queens, Seneca, the second Ulster and the first Westchester. Every one of these can be regained if the questions at issue are fairly presented. In several of them the Democratic plurality was less than the Prohibition vote.

The hope of Republican gain is strengthened by the breaking away of thousands of earnest Prohibitionists and temperance men from the Democratic side-show with which they have long been connected. Their national leader, Gen. Fisk, has sounded the war-note of a new campaign, which is to be made against the whisky power and pledged to use any means that may promise useful results for temperance. The Prohibition party will attempt a show of keeping up the organization, but the voters will be at the polls with high license ballots in their hands. They are tired of fighting for what the elections in Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New-Hampshire have shown to be unattainable, and will vote for results. The union of one-third of the old Prohibition vote with the Republican party will sweep away the Democratic majority in the state and annihilate David B. Hill. And more than that proportion of the vote is coming.

SLAVERY IN THE WAR.

Senator Hiscock is being overhauled by newspaper critics for a portion of his speech at the Woodstock celebration. The paragraph that gives offense is as follows:

> Seventy years after the work of the fathers was completed their ancestors and descendants, under the leadership of their President, statesmen and Generals, of their own accord—not by conquest, or moved by an unworthy motive, but animated by the loftiest patriotism and purest morality—made a successful war upon the crime sanctioned by the fathers, and did it at a cost of eight thousand millions of dollars, the lives of 600,000 men, and more than a million of men disabled permanently. In this broad land of ours there is not one who regrets the treasure. We mourn the honored dead, but we all rejoice that the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution, as framed by the fathers, guide our national policy, strengthen our national character, and, wherever this day is observed, north or south, east or west, in city or hamlet, not a voice will be heard in protest or complaint that those amendments were granted at too great a cost.

Mr. Hiscock is told that his assertion that the war was begun and carried on for the purpose of exterminating slavery is historically inaccurate. But this is hypercriticism. The war, technically considered, was for the preservation of the Union, but history proves that the extermination of slavery was the only condition on which the Union could be preserved. The war was not begun with the attack upon Sumter, but when the sons of New England and other free states went to Kansas armed with "Beecher's Bibles" and drew the line—when they said to slavery, "Thus far shalt thou come and no farther." These warriors for freedom knew that their decision meant the doom of slavery, for it must inevitably die unless given room to expand equally with the growth of free states. Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward hesitated long before declaring against slavery after war had actually begun, but this was in deference to the border states which remained in the Union; the government could not afford to challenge their hostility. But all the same, Mr. Lincoln had declared years before that no government could exist "half slave and half free," and Mr. Seward had proclaimed on the floor of the Senate that an "irrepressible conflict" was pending. From the moment that the border ruffians made their first invasion of Kansas it was seen everywhere, at the South as well as the North, that the war had begun which was to either terminate slavery or spread its power over the whole domain of the republic. The war against the rebellion was fought by every intelligent man engaged in it with this end in view—with the knowledge that victory to the Union meant the doom of slavery.

Mr. Hiscock is therefore historically correct. He speaks according to the understanding of men who were participants in the conflict or intelligent watchers thereof. It would have been a poor sort of victory that should have left slavery intact in a single state or on a single acre of ground in the South. It would have left the cause of the war open and compelled it to be fought over again before the end of the century. Mr. Lincoln could hardly have rallied an army for such a cause as that. Our "boys" knew what they were fighting for, and kept fighting until they won it.

FREE SUGAR.

> A sugar trust is robbing every family in the United States. The aggregate of the robbery is enormous. Free sugar is the specific called for. Put sugar on the free list and the price will fall 50 per cent in a month.—Washington Press.

In the late Congress the Republicans proposed to put sugar on the free list, but the Democrats said no. They proposed a large reduction of the duty on sugar in the Senate bill, but the Democrats would not have it. The utmost that they would consent to was a reduction of a quarter of a cent per pound on raw sugar in the Mills bill, and to get this valueless concession the Republicans would have had to consent to the passage of the entire bill and the prostration of two-thirds of the industries of the North. The sugar duty was kept at its present enormous figure to protect a few Democratic planters in Louisiana and the great sugar trust, which contributed a generous sum to the Democratic campaign fund.

And so the price of sugar goes up and up, till it has become a prohibited article of food in thousands of American households. The sugar tariff is a tax because it protects nothing; because, in spite of it, the bulk of our sugar is imported from abroad and the duty upon it must be paid. If sugar could be produced in the United States in quantity sufficient to supply the home demand, like iron, wool, salt and grain, the tax would cease to affect the price in consequence of home competition. The Democratic party is unquestionably very earnest in its advocacy of free trade, but it is always ready to waive the principle for the benefit of any purely Democratic state or community that prefers protection.

The country will secure free sugar when the Republican Congress gets to work, and American sugar growers will also receive the encouragement of a bounty equivalent to the protection that they enjoy. It is cheaper to pay the tax on the few thousand pounds produced in this country than on the many millions imported.

FAIRCHILD'S FIGURES.

He Falsely Parades the Tariff as a Surplus Breeder—What the Results Prove.

[From the New York Sun.]

The government's receipts during the fiscal year that ended June 30 were derived as follows:

Customs	$224,971,235
Internal revenue	131,662,106
Miscellaneous	31,958,834
Total	$388,591,675

The expenditures during the same period were $300,064,795, including $17,292,763 paid as premium on bonds. This makes the excess of receipts over expenditures $88,526,880, and of this about $48,000,000 is appropriated by law to the sinking fund.

Some of our free trade contemporaries who have followed the cue of Grover Cleveland and ex-Secretary Fairchild in ciphering on paper a surplus so constructed as to look as portentous as possible are now saying that the Treasury statement for the year is a wonderful confirmation of Mr. Fairchild's estimates in his report of December 5, 1887, that is to say, the document on which Mr. Cleveland based his disastrous free trade message.

Mr. Fairchild then predicted a surplus for the fiscal year 1889 of $104,313,365, calling the sinking fund appropriation surplus.

His chorus, composed of the Mugwump and free trade press, now discover in this year's figures a surplus of $104,739,073, and they are chanting the praises of Mr. Fairchild's wonderful prescience.

Taking their own method of surplus computation, which includes every trick of bookkeeping that serves to swell the apparent balance on hand, let us see whether this close correspondence of the totals of prediction and result is a purely accidental circumstances, or whether it indicates financial sagacity and remarkable foresight on the part of Mr. Fairchild.

His estimate of receipts for the year was as follows:

Customs	$228,000,000
Internal revenue	120,000,000
Miscellaneous	35,000,000
Total	$383,000,000

Now, the purpose of the Treasury report of 1887 and of Mr. Cleveland's tariff message of that year was to exhibit the customs receipts as the surplus breeder, the great source of peril to the nation's finances. Mr. Cleveland's programme was to attack the tariff and to let the revenue alone. Mr. Fairchild, in his estimate of 1889, put the internal revenue figures at only a little more than $1,100,000 above the actual receipts from that source in 1887, while he estimated the customs revenue for 1889 at nearly $11,000,000 above the actual customs receipts for 1887.

According to the Cleveland-Fairchild programme, the surplus producing tariff receipts were to increase the $11,000,000 in the two years. As for the internal revenue, eleven hundred thousand dollars was enough to allow for its growth. Therefore, they said, Congress must smash the tariff and reserve the internal revenue.

As a matter of fact, the customs receipts for the year just ended fall more than $3,000,000 short of the Fairchild estimate: while the internal revenue receipts exceed his estimate by nearly $12,000,000.

It is these facts, so different from what Mr. Fairchild expected or desired, that account for the coincidence between the figures of his estimated surplus and those now paraded by the Mugwump and free trade newspapers. As between customs and internal revenue, Mr. Fairchild's prediction was more than $15,000,000 out of the way.

The more the Fairchild chorus chants his praise as a prophet and sound financier, the more clearly they will exhibit the main fact to which we wish to call attention.

Of the two great sources of government income, the internal revenue is now working the faster to make surplus.

Since 1887 the increase in the annual receipts from customs has only been $7,684,342.

Since 1887 the increase in the annual receipts from the internal revenue taxes has been $12,838,715.

This year the customs receipts, although larger by several millions than the returns for the earlier quarters indicated, fall far short of the estimate which Mr. Fairchild made for the purpose of a campaign against the tariff.

The internal revenue receipts, on the other hand, knock him out as a prophet with an $11,000,000 blow, and once more make it evident to the country that any sensible legislation intended to reduce the surplus must begin where the Sun has always said it ought to begin.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Whatever complaints Mugwumps and Democrats may make in regard to some of the President's appointments, they cannot deny that his removals are all based on fitness. Most of Cleveland's appointees were eligible to be fired for cause.—Indianapolis Journal.

We do not notice that the free trade papers give us any explanation of the curious phenomenon exhibited in the fact that hundreds of millions of dollars of English capital are flowing into this country to be invested under the blighting influence of protective tariff.—Boston Journal.

Even the Democratic papers are getting tired of prying into the domestic affairs at the White House and ask that less prominence be given Baby McKee. Had there been more in the administration to criticise, the correspondents would not have been driven to such trivial matters for newspaper material.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

There are no redeeming features connected with the contest, and the charges that the decent people of Massachusetts and Boston are congratulating themselves because the victorious slugger once kept a notorious rum shop in Boston, and hence is credited to Massachusetts, should be repudiated with scorn. We have no more reason for pride in Sullivan than in a bull dog or fighting cock which has won a bloody victory in som surreptitious scrimmage.—Springfield Union.

HOW REPULSIVE

Is bad breath, and yet how many otherwise attractive, polite and particular people afflict their friends with the foul odor of their breath. If there was no remedy for this it might excite our sympathy, but as there is no need of having a foul breath, it is an unpardonable breach of good manners to obtrude such an offence on good society.

ITCHING AGONIES.

Every Night I Scratched Until the Skin was Raw.

Body Covered with Scales like Spots of Mortar. An Awful Spectacle. Doctors Useless. Cure Hopeless. Entirely Cured by the Cuticura Remedies in Five Weeks.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied by itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see and advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Relief Instantaneous, Cure Rapid, Radical and Permanent.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and injures the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Cure has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling, and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell and taste, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh

Consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and Improved Inhaler, all in one package; price $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure. Sold everywhere.

GENERAL NEWS MATTER

BY CABLE, TELEGRAPH AND MAIL TO "THE FREEMAN."

A Turning Point in the Eastern Policy of Austria-Hungary—Verdict of the Coroner's Jury Which Investigated the Johnstown Disaster—For Relief of Panama Canal, Etc.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times writes: "It is generally admitted in political circles here that the Emperor's speech at the reception of the Delegations marks a turning point in the Eastern policy of Austria-Hungary. For some years past the attitude of the Vienna Cabinet towards the Balkan States has been dictated by considerations for Russian susceptibilities, and in his anxiety not to hurt the feelings of the Czar, Count Kalnoky had adopted a policy of masterly inactivity which was often attacked as injurious to the interests of this monarchy, especially by Hungarian politicians, who were convinced—and their opinion has been ratified by recent events—that Russia could not be conciliated. The firm tone of the Imperial speech leaves no doubt that a new departure has now been made, and that Austria-Hungary is going to control events in the East, instead of being controlled by them. In this endeavor Count Kalnoky will find public opinion entirely on his side, and the enthusiastic cheers with which the Hungarian delegates yesterday received the pointed allusions to Servia and Bulgaria show that the change of attitude is fully appreciated by the leading representatives of the dual monarchy. So convinced are politicians in this country of the necessity of an energetic Eastern policy, that the veiled threats in the Imperial speech, which seem to have raised some alarm in a portion of the foreign press, have had just the opposite effect in Austria-Hungary, where the newspapers are unanimous in considering them as conducive to the maintenance of peace. Russia is now warned that Austria cannot be further provoked with impunity, and, moreover, it is told again that in case of war it will have to deal not with Austria alone, but with the allied Powers. This plain language, which is evidently approved of at Berlin, will, it is believed, have a deterring effect on the St. Petersburg Cabinet. The Emperor Francis Joseph himself yesterday took occasion to state it privately as his opinion that no imminent danger existed. Speaking after the official reception, when the usual circle was formed, with Dr. Demel, a member of the Austrian delegation, His Majesty said: 'It is true that the political situation is uncertain, and one might even say more uncertain than on some former occasions. But a turn for the better has often taken place in similar cases, and in the present case an improvement is already noticeable. In public discussions the situation is regarded as more alarming than it really is. Affairs in Roumania, for instance, are not at all so unsatisfactory as they are made out to be in the public press, and the same applies to Servia. It is, therefore, justifiable to assume that peace will not be disturbed in the near future.'"

Bishop Cortland Whitehead, of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Western Pennsylvania, says with reference to the proposal that sermons in favor of civil service reform shall be preached generally over the country on Thanksgiving Day: "I am very sure that the movement will receive widespread support throughout the country, and very probably the majority of preachers will elect to take the question as their subject on Thanksgiving Day. I cannot, of course, lay my commands on ministers of my church to speak on that or any other subject, but I shall certainly use my influence as far as possible in furtherance of the movement. We are all of us interested in the question of civil service reform, for the reason that our individual as well as our National prosperity depends on the class of men who as office-holders carry on the administration of our National affairs. So it is necessary to point out that if righteous-principled and capable men are selected to office, a pure and trustworthy administration may be looked for in return, and that if men of opposite character are placed there, it is not easy to foresee what must be the result. We don't desire that every Tom, Dick and Harry that comes along seeking office should be selected because he has sufficient influence to place him there. The question is one on which the public should be thoroughly informed, and when such men as Bishop Huntington, of Central New-York, interest themselves in it, it will be sure to obtain very general attention."

A new nautical distress signal has been successfully experimented with in England, the notable feature of this device being that no stick is required, and there is no back fire, the rocket taking the form of a metal cylinder, in the base of which is the propelling charge of tonite, and above this again a star composition. The rocket is placed in a phosphor-bronze socket, which may be screwed or let into a rail of the ship, and, when it is required to fire it a firing tube is placed in the centre of the rocket, and to the top of this a lanyard is hooked; the propelling charge is fired by simply pulling this lanyard, and the signal is propelled upward at one impulse—the wire fuse by which the detonating charge is exploded being at the same time ignited, and this burns until the rocket has reached the maximum height which is 600 feet. The stars are thrown out, giving a brilliant illumination, and the tonite charge then explodes, the noise of the explosion being equal to the firing of a six-pound gun, but, being high up, is heard at a great distance, in one instance, as reported, a disabled vessel having by this means brought another to its assistance from a distance of 12 miles. The full-sized rockets are seven inches long and two inches in diameter.

In 1864 a hot-headed French inventor offered to contract for churches and cathedrals, including a chime of bells, to be constructed entirely of paper. From chimes, cannon was but one step, and the Gallic inventor announced his readiness to supply a train of artillery of any given calibre, made of the same material. Building paper is enjoying a fine boom just now, and is proving a fine material in the hands of architects and builders for several uses, inside and out. The advantages briefly stated are: Continuity of service, or its adaptability for making into rolls of almost any width and length and flexibility. Unlike wood it has no grain and will not split. It is unaffected by the change of temperature and thus has an advantage over sheet-metal for roofing materials. Though in its natural condition it is affected by moisture it can be rendered water-proof by saturating with asphalt or by various methods. Being a non-resonant body it is well fitted to prevent the passage of sound. It is a non-conductor of heat, and can also be made of non-combustible material like asbestos or rendered resistant to fire by chemical treatment.

Lewis Godlove, an authority, states some facts about Mexico which everybody who has been there can corroborate. He says: "Although Mexico has a population of about 11,000,000 it must be borne in mind that, at a high estimate, not over 20 per cent. of this number have the means with which to purchase goods of any kind. Fully 9,000,000 Mexicans are people who produce nothing, earn almost nothing, and consequently consume nothing that we could sell them. When men rarely receive more than 15 cents per day for their labor, they are not the kind of customers the merchants of the United States are seeking. The climate of Mexico is such that but little clothing is needed. It is possible to harvest two crops of cereals annually, and fruit and vegetables grow in abundance the year round. The only articles which these people will buy are pulque, the national drink, and sombreros. A Mexican will generally deprive himself and his family of necessary clothing and food in order that he may buy an extravagantly expensive sombrero."

At a meeting of the Ministerial Union of Charleston, the Rev. C. C. Pinckney, D. D., Rector of Grace Episcopal Church, offered the following resolutions, which were adopted: "In view of the recent occurrences in our midst, we, the ministerial Union, feel constrained to adopt the following resolutions: First, Resolved, That we proclaim an abhorrence of murder and all deeds of violence which defile the land with blood and violate the laws of God and man, and deprecate all demonstrations that seem to sanction them. Second, Resolved, That we endeavor to stimulate the public conscience by setting forth the divine law against the reckless shedding of human blood and the curse that law entails upon the community which refuses to punish the crime. Third, Resolved, That we invoke the pulpit throughout the City and State to unite with us in putting down the deeds of violence which have so often disgraced our land and exposed us to the just rebuke of those who honor the commands 'Thou shalt not kill' and 'Thou shalt not commit adultery.'"

Sir Morell MacKenzie says: "Those who have not given much attention to the subject are apt to think of speaking as Dogberry did of reading and writing, that it 'comes by nature'—that it is, in fact, an instinctive act, which no more needs cultivation for its right performance than eating or sleeping. This is a great mistake. Speaking, even of that slip-shod kind which is mostly used in ordinary conversation, is an art, and as such has to be learned, often with much labor. The complicated muscular actions, the nice nervous adjustments, the combination of these into one harmonious effort directed to a particular end, and, finally, the mastery of all these movements till they can be produced automatically without a direct and continuous exercise of will-power, form a complex process which takes years to learn, and which, by many, is even then very imperfectly acquired. Good speaking is a higher development of the art, which bears the same relation to speech, as ordinarily heard, that the horsemanship of an Archer or a Cannon bears to the performance of a costermonger's boy on the paternal donkey."

The verdict of the Coroner's jury, which investigated the Johnstown disaster, has been rendered, as follows: "We, the undersigned, the jury empanelled to investigate the cause of the death of Ellen Hile on May 31, after hearing the testimony, find that Ellen Hile came to her death by drowning; that the drowning was caused by the breaking of the South Fork Dam. We further find, from the testimony and what we saw on the ground, that there was not sufficient waste weir, nor was the dam constructed sufficiently strong nor of proper material to withstay the overflow; and hence we find that the owners of said dam were culpable in not making it as secure as it should have been, especially in view of the fact that a population of many thousands were in the valley below; and we hold that the owners are responsible for the fearful loss of life and property resulting from the breaking of the dam."

At the London central electric lighting station recently a highly interesting experiment was made with a current of 10,000 volts potential. One hundred 100-volt lamps, arranged in series, were fully incandesced, affording an ocular demonstration of the presence of the 10,000 volts. A pair of copper wires, with ends facing one another at a distance of half an inch, were then placed in the circuit, and all lamps were extinguished. The primary current now being turned on, the ends of the wires were immediately seen to glow with a brush discharge, which steadily increased in brilliancy until, in about four or five seconds, the circuit was broken by the rupture of the safety fuse. The lights at the points did not attain any great degree of brilliancy, and bore no resemblance to an arc.

The British Journal of Photography states that photography is utilized in the construction of a new balance which has lately been brought before the scientific world. In this novel instrument of precision, after the weight has been roughly approximated, instead of continuing the trials in the usual manner, the beam is allowed to come to rest, which it quickly does by means of an ingenious air buffer, and then the extent of the bending of the beam through the difference of the weights is observed by a microscope fitted with a network of parallel cross wires directed to a small micrometer fixed at the end of the beam. This micrometer is made by a photographic process, and carries figures and lines distant from one-twentieth to one-fiftieth of a millimetre apart.

The building, which stood on the shore of the Hudson River, was about 30 by 15 feet in dimensions and in it at the time were William Gill, Charles Carney and James Walbreck, the last two named being boys. No one seems to know what caused the explosion, but about 300 pounds of the explosive were in some way set off and set fire to the building. The fire finished what the force of the explosion commenced, and, although the fire department turned out, the building is a total ruin. The force of the explosion was felt in Tarrytown. GENERAL NEWS MATTER

A Turning Point in the Eastern Policy of Austria-Hungary—Verdict of the Coroner's Jury Which Investigated the Johnstown Disaster—For Relief of Panama Canal, Etc.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times writes: "It is generally admitted in political circles here that the Emperor's speech at the reception of the Delegations marks a turning point in the Eastern policy of Austria-Hungary. For some years past the attitude of the Vienna Cabinet towards the Balkan States has been dictated by considerations for Russian susceptibilities, and in his anxiety not to hurt the feelings of the Czar, Count Kalnoky had adopted a policy of masterly inactivity which was often attacked as injurious to the interests of this monarchy, especially by Hungarian politicians, who were convinced—and their opinion has been ratified by recent events—that Russia could not be conciliated. The firm tone of the Imperial speech leaves no doubt that a new departure has now been made, and that Austria-Hungary is going to control events in the East, instead of being controlled by them. In this endeavor Count Kalnoky will find public opinion entirely on his side, and the enthusiastic cheers with which the Hungarian delegates yesterday received the pointed allusions to Servia and Bulgaria show that the change of attitude is fully appreciated by the leading representatives of the dual monarchy. So convinced are politicians in this country of the necessity of an energetic Eastern policy, that the veiled threats in the Imperial speech, which seem to have raised some alarm in a portion of the foreign press, have had just the opposite effect in Austria-Hungary, where the newspapers are unanimous in considering them as conducive to the maintenance of peace. Russia is now warned that Austria cannot be further provoked with impunity, and, moreover, it is told again that in case of war it will have to deal not with Austria alone, but with the allied Powers. This plain language, which is evidently approved of at Berlin, will, it is believed, have a deterring effect on the St. Petersburg Cabinet. The Emperor Francis Joseph himself yesterday took occasion to state it privately as his opinion that no imminent danger existed. Speaking after the official reception, when the usual circle was formed, with Dr. Demel, a member of the Austrian delegation, His Majesty said: 'It is true that the political situation is uncertain, and one might even say more uncertain than on some former occasions. But a turn for the better has often taken place in similar cases, and in the present case an improvement is already noticeable. In public discussions the situation is regarded as more alarming than it really is. Affairs in Roumania, for instance, are not at all so unsatisfactory as they are made out to be in the public press, and the same applies to Servia. It is, therefore, justifiable to assume that peace will not be disturbed in the near future.'"

Bishop Cortland Whitehead, of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Western Pennsylvania, says with reference to the proposal that sermons in favor of civil service reform shall be preached generally over the country on Thanksgiving Day: "I am very sure that the movement will receive widespread support throughout the country, and very probably the majority of preachers will elect to take the question as their subject on Thanksgiving Day. I cannot, of course, lay my commands on ministers of my church to speak on that or any other subject, but I shall certainly use my influence as far as possible in furtherance of the movement. We are all of us interested in the question of civil service reform, for the reason that our individual as well as our National prosperity depends on the class of men who as office-holders carry on the administration of our National affairs. So it is necessary to point out that if righteous-principled and capable men are selected to office, a pure and trustworthy administration may be looked for in return, and that if men of opposite character are placed there, it is not easy to foresee what must be the result. We don't desire that every Tom, Dick and Harry that comes along seeking office should be selected because he has sufficient influence to place him there. The question is one on which the public should be thoroughly informed, and when such men as Bishop Huntington, of Central New-York, interest themselves in it, it will be sure to obtain very general attention."

A new nautical distress signal has been successfully experimented with in England, the notable feature of this device being that no stick is required, and there is no back fire, the rocket taking the form of a metal cylinder, in the base of which is the propelling charge of tonite, and above this again a star composition. The rocket is placed in a phosphor-bronze socket, which may be screwed or let into a rail of the ship, and, when it is required to fire it a firing tube is placed in the centre of the rocket, and to the top of this a lanyard is hooked; the propelling charge is fired by simply pulling this lanyard, and the signal is propelled upward at one impulse—the wire fuse by which the detonating charge is exploded being at the same time ignited, and this burns until the rocket has reached the maximum height which is 600 feet. The stars are thrown out, giving a brilliant illumination, and the tonite charge then explodes, the noise of the explosion being equal to the firing of a six-pound gun, but, being high up, is heard at a great distance, in one instance, as reported, a disabled vessel having by this means brought another to its assistance from a distance of 12 miles. The full-sized rockets are seven inches long and two inches in diameter.

In 1864 a hot-headed French inventor offered to contract for churches and cathedrals, including a chime of bells, to be constructed entirely of paper. From chimes, cannon was but one step, and the Gallic inventor announced his readiness to supply a train of artillery of any given calibre, made of the same material. Building paper is enjoying a fine boom just now, and is proving a fine material in the hands of architects and builders for several uses, inside and out. The advantages briefly stated are: Continuity of service, or its adaptability for making into rolls of almost any width and length and flexibility. Unlike wood it has no grain and will not split. It is unaffected by the change of temperature and thus has an advantage over sheet-metal for roofing materials. Though in its natural condition it is affected by moisture it can be rendered water-proof by saturating with asphalt or by various methods. Being a non-resonant body it is well fitted to prevent the passage of sound. It is a non-conductor of heat, and can also be made of non-combustible material like asbestos or rendered resistant to fire by chemical treatment.

Lewis Godlove, an authority, states some facts about Mexico which everybody who has been there can corroborate. He says: "Although Mexico has a population of about 11,000,000 it must be borne in mind that, at a high estimate, not over 20 per cent. of this number have the means with which to purchase goods of any kind. Fully 9,000,000 Mexicans are people who produce nothing, earn almost nothing, and consequently consume nothing that we could sell them. When men rarely receive more than 15 cents per day for their labor, they are not the kind of customers the merchants of the United States are seeking. The climate of Mexico is such that but little clothing is needed. It is possible to harvest two crops of cereals annually, and fruit and vegetables grow in abundance the year round. The only articles which these people will buy are pulque, the national drink, and sombreros. A Mexican will generally deprive himself and his family of necessary clothing and food in order that he may buy an extravagantly expensive sombrero."

At a meeting of the Ministerial Union of Charleston, the Rev. C. C. Pinckney, D. D., Rector of Grace Episcopal Church, offered the following resolutions, which were adopted: "In view of the recent occurrences in our midst, we, the ministerial Union, feel constrained to adopt the following resolutions: First, Resolved, That we proclaim an abhorrence of murder and all deeds of violence which defile the land with blood and violate the laws of God and man, and deprecate all demonstrations that seem to sanction them. Second, Resolved, That we endeavor to stimulate the public conscience by setting forth the divine law against the reckless shedding of human blood and the curse that law entails upon the community which refuses to punish the crime. Third, Resolved, That we invoke the pulpit throughout the City and State to unite with us in putting down the deeds of violence which have so often disgraced our land and exposed us to the just rebuke of those who honor the commands 'Thou shalt not kill' and 'Thou shalt not commit adultery.'"

Sir Morell MacKenzie says: "Those who have not given much attention to the subject are apt to think of speaking as Dogberry did of reading and writing, that it 'comes by nature'—that it is, in fact, an instinctive act, which no more needs cultivation for its right performance than eating or sleeping. This is a great mistake. Speaking, even of that slip-shod kind which is mostly used in ordinary conversation, is an art, and as such has to be learned, often with much labor. The complicated muscular actions, the nice nervous adjustments, the combination of these into one harmonious effort directed to a particular end, and, finally, the mastery of all these movements till they can be produced automatically without a direct and continuous exercise of will-power, form a complex process which takes years to learn, and which, by many, is even then very imperfectly acquired. Good speaking is a higher development of the art, which bears the same relation to speech, as ordinarily heard, that the horsemanship of an Archer or a Cannon bears to the performance of a costermonger's boy on the paternal donkey."

The verdict of the Coroner's jury, which investigated the Johnstown disaster, has been rendered, as follows: "We, the undersigned, the jury empanelled to investigate the cause of the death of Ellen Hile on May 31, after hearing the testimony, find that Ellen Hile came to her death by drowning; that the drowning was caused by the breaking of the South Fork Dam. We further find, from the testimony and what we saw on the ground, that there was not sufficient waste weir, nor was the dam constructed sufficiently strong nor of proper material to withstay the overflow; and hence we find that the owners of said dam were culpable in not making it as secure as it should have been, especially in view of the fact that a population of many thousands were in the valley below; and we hold that the owners are responsible for the fearful loss of life and property resulting from the breaking of the dam."

At the London central electric lighting station recently a highly interesting experiment was made with a current of 10,000 volts potential. One hundred 100-volt lamps, arranged in series, were fully incandesced, affording an ocular demonstration of the presence of the 10,000 volts. A pair of copper wires, with ends facing one another at a distance of half an inch, were then placed in the circuit, and all lamps were extinguished. The primary current now being turned on, the ends of the wires were immediately seen to glow with a brush discharge, which steadily increased in brilliancy until, in about four or five seconds, the circuit was broken by the rupture of the safety fuse. The lights at the points did not attain any great degree of brilliancy, and bore no resemblance to an arc.

The British Journal of Photography states that photography is utilized in the construction of a new balance which has lately been brought before the scientific world. In this novel instrument of precision, after the weight has been roughly approximated, instead of continuing the trials in the usual manner, the beam is allowed to come to rest, which it quickly does by means of an ingenious air buffer, and then the extent of the bending of the beam through the difference of the weights is observed by a microscope fitted with a network of parallel cross wires directed to a small micrometer fixed at the end of the beam. This micrometer is made by a photographic process, and carries figures and lines distant from one-twentieth to one-fiftieth of a millimetre apart.

Three explosions of patent powder wrecked a brick building at North Tarrytown yesterday. The building, which stood on the shore of the Hudson River, was about 30 by 15 feet in dimensions and in it at the time were William Gill, Charles Carney and James Walbreck, the last two named being boys. No one seems to know what caused the explosion, but about 300 pounds of the explosive were in some way set off and set fire to the building. The fire finished what the force of the explosion commenced, and, although the fire department turned out, the building is a total ruin. The force of the explosion was felt in Tarrytown. The boy Carney had one of his hands burned, but he was the only person injured.

BY CABLE, TELEGRAPH AND MAIL TO "THE FREEMAN."

A Turning Point in the Eastern Policy of Austria-Hungary—Verdict of the Coroner's Jury Which Investigated the Johnstown Disaster—For Relief of Panama Canal, Etc.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times writes: "It is generally admitted in political circles here that the Emperor's speech at the reception of the Delegations marks a turning point in the Eastern policy of Austria-Hungary. For some years past the attitude of the Vienna Cabinet towards the Balkan States has been dictated by considerations for Russian susceptibilities, and in his anxiety not to hurt the feelings of the Czar, Count Kalnoky had adopted a policy of masterly inactivity which was often attacked as injurious to the interests of this monarchy, especially by Hungarian politicians, who were convinced—and their opinion has been ratified by recent events—that Russia could not be conciliated. The firm tone of the Imperial speech leaves no doubt that a new departure has now been made, and that Austria-Hungary is going to control events in the East, instead of being controlled by them. In this endeavor Count Kalnoky will find public opinion entirely on his side, and the enthusiastic cheers with which the Hungarian delegates yesterday received the pointed allusions to Servia and Bulgaria show that the change of attitude is fully appreciated by the leading representatives of the dual monarchy. So convinced are politicians in this country of the necessity of an energetic Eastern policy, that the veiled threats in the Imperial speech, which seem to have raised some alarm in a portion of the foreign press, have had just the opposite effect in Austria-Hungary, where the newspapers are unanimous in considering them as conducive to the maintenance of peace. Russia is now warned that Austria cannot be further provoked with impunity, and, moreover, it is told again that in case of war it will have to deal not with Austria alone, but with the allied Powers. This plain language, which is evidently approved of at Berlin, will, it is believed, have a deterring effect on the St. Petersburg Cabinet. The Emperor Francis Joseph himself yesterday took occasion to state it privately as his opinion that no imminent danger existed. Speaking after the official reception, when the usual circle was formed, with Dr. Demel, a member of the Austrian delegation, His Majesty said: 'It is true that the political situation is uncertain, and one might even say more uncertain than on some former occasions. But a turn for the better has often taken place in similar cases, and in the present case an improvement is already noticeable. In public discussions the situation is regarded as more alarming than it really is. Affairs in Roumania, for instance, are not at all so unsatisfactory as they are made out to be in the public press, and the same applies to Servia. It is, therefore, justifiable to assume that peace will not be disturbed in the near future.'"

Bishop Cortland Whitehead, of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Western Pennsylvania, says with reference to the proposal that sermons in favor of civil service reform shall be preached generally over the country on Thanksgiving Day: "I am very sure that the movement will receive widespread support throughout the country, and very probably the majority of preachers will elect to take the question as their subject on Thanksgiving Day. I cannot, of course, lay my commands on ministers of my church to speak on that or any other subject, but I shall certainly use my influence as far as possible in furtherance of the movement. We are all of us interested in the question of civil service reform, for the reason that our individual as well as our National prosperity depends on the class of men who as office-holders carry on the administration of our National affairs. So it is necessary to point out that if righteous-principled and capable men are selected to office, a pure and trustworthy administration may be looked for in return, and that if men of opposite character are placed there, it is not easy to foresee what must be the result. We don't desire that every Tom, Dick and Harry that comes along seeking office should be selected because he has sufficient influence to place him there. The question is one on which the public should be thoroughly informed, and when such men as Bishop Huntington, of Central New-York, interest themselves in it, it will be sure to obtain very general attention."

A new nautical distress signal has been successfully experimented with in England, the notable feature of this device being that no stick is required, and there is no back fire, the rocket taking the form of a metal cylinder, in the base of which is the propelling charge of tonite, and above this again a star composition. The rocket is placed in a phosphor-bronze socket, which may be screwed or let into a rail of the ship, and, when it is required to fire it a firing tube is placed in the centre of the rocket, and to the top of this a lanyard is hooked; the propelling charge is fired by simply pulling this lanyard, and the signal is propelled upward at one impulse—the wire fuse by which the detonating charge is exploded being at the same time ignited, and this burns until the rocket has reached the maximum height which is 600 feet. The stars are thrown out, giving a brilliant illumination, and the tonite charge then explodes, the noise of the explosion being equal to the firing of a six-pound gun, but, being high up, is heard at a great distance, in one instance, as reported, a disabled vessel having by this means brought another to its assistance from a distance of 12 miles. The full-sized rockets are seven inches long and two inches in diameter.

In 1864 a hot-headed French inventor offered to contract for churches and cathedrals, including a chime of bells, to be constructed entirely of paper. From chimes, cannon was but one step, and the Gallic inventor announced his readiness to supply a train of artillery of any given calibre, made of the same material. Building paper is enjoying a fine boom just now, and is proving a fine material in the hands of architects and builders for several uses, inside and out. The advantages briefly stated are: Continuity of service, or its adaptability for making into rolls of almost any width and length and flexibility. Unlike wood it has no grain and will not split. It is unaffected by the change of temperature and thus has an advantage over sheet-metal for roofing materials. Though in its natural condition it is affected by moisture it can be rendered water-proof by saturating with asphalt or by various methods. Being a non-resonant body it is well fitted to prevent the passage of sound. It is a non-conductor of heat, and can also be made of non-combustible material like asbestos or rendered resistant to fire by chemical treatment.

Lewis Godlove, an authority, states some facts about Mexico which everybody who has been there can corroborate. He says: "Although Mexico has a population of about 11,000,000 it must be borne in mind that, at a high estimate, not over 20 per cent. of this number have the means with which to purchase goods of any kind. Fully 9,000,000 Mexicans are people who produce nothing, earn almost nothing, and consequently consume nothing that we could sell them. When men rarely receive more than 15 cents per day for their labor, they are not the kind of customers the merchants of the United States are seeking. The climate of Mexico is such that but little clothing is needed. It is possible to harvest two crops of cereals annually, and fruit and vegetables grow in abundance the year round. The only articles which these people will buy are pulque, the national drink, and sombreros. A Mexican will generally deprive himself and his family of necessary clothing and food in order that he may buy an extravagantly expensive sombrero."

At a meeting of the Ministerial Union of Charleston, the Rev. C. C. Pinckney, D. D., Rector of Grace Episcopal Church, offered the following resolutions, which were adopted: "In view of the recent occurrences in our midst, we, the ministerial Union, feel constrained to adopt the following resolutions: First, Resolved, That we proclaim an abhorrence of murder and all deeds of violence which defile the land with blood and violate the laws of God and man, and deprecate all demonstrations that seem to sanction them. Second, Resolved, That we endeavor to stimulate the public conscience by setting forth the divine law against the reckless shedding of human blood and the curse that law entails upon the community which refuses to punish the crime. Third, Resolved, That we invoke the pulpit throughout the City and State to unite with us in putting down the deeds of violence which have so often disgraced our land and exposed us to the just rebuke of those who honor the commands 'Thou shalt not kill' and 'Thou shalt not commit adultery.'"

Sir Morell MacKenzie says: "Those who have not given much attention to the subject are apt to think of speaking as Dogberry did of reading and writing, that it 'comes by nature'—that it is, in fact, an instinctive act, which no more needs cultivation for its right performance than eating or sleeping. This is a great mistake. Speaking, even of that slip-shod kind which is mostly used in ordinary conversation, is an art, and as such has to be learned, often with much labor. The complicated muscular actions, the nice nervous adjustments, the combination of these into one harmonious effort directed to a particular end, and, finally, the mastery of all these movements till they can be produced automatically without a direct and continuous exercise of will-power, form a complex process which takes years to learn, and which, by many, is even then very imperfectly acquired. Good speaking is a higher development of the art, which bears the same relation to speech, as ordinarily heard, that the horsemanship of an Archer or a Cannon bears to the performance of a costermonger's boy on the paternal donkey."

The verdict of the Coroner's jury, which investigated the Johnstown disaster, has been rendered, as follows: "We, the undersigned, the jury empanelled to investigate the cause of the death of Ellen Hile on May 31, after hearing the testimony, find that Ellen Hile came to her death by drowning; that the drowning was caused by the breaking of the South Fork Dam. We further find, from the testimony and what we saw on the ground, that there was not sufficient waste weir, nor was the dam constructed sufficiently strong nor of proper material to withstay the overflow; and hence we find that the owners of said dam were culpable in not making it as secure as it should have been, especially in view of the fact that a population of many thousands were in the valley below; and we hold that the owners are responsible for the fearful loss of life and property resulting from the breaking of the dam."

At the London central electric lighting station recently a highly interesting experiment was made with a current of 10,000 volts potential. One hundred 100-volt lamps, arranged in series, were fully incandescent, affording an ocular demonstration of the presence of the 10,000 volts. A pair of copper wires, with ends facing one another at a distance of half an inch, were then placed in the circuit, and all lamps were extinguished. The primary current now being turned on, the ends of the wires were immediately seen to glow with a brush discharge, which steadily increased in brilliancy until, in about four or five seconds, the circuit was broken by the rupture of the safety fuse. The lights at the points did not attain any great degree of brilliancy, and bore no resemblance to an arc.

The British Journal of Photography states that photography is utilized in the construction of a new balance which has lately been brought before the scientific world. In this novel instrument of precision, after the weight has been roughly approximated, instead of continuing the trials in the usual manner, the beam is allowed to come to rest, which it quickly does by means of an ingenious air buffer, and then the extent of the bending of the beam through the difference of the weights is observed by a microscope fitted with a network of parallel cross wires directed to a small micrometer fixed at the end of the beam. This micrometer is made by a photographic process, and carries figures and lines distant from one-twentieth to one-fiftieth of a millimetre apart.

An Explosion at North Tarrytown—Countryside Chat from Correspondents of "The Freeman" at Marlborough, Catskill, Flatbush, West Hurley, Highland, Etc.

THE FREEMAN desires to make this department as complete and comprehensive as possible, and to this end invites its readers in places not represented by regular correspondents to communicate news.

THE HUDSON RIVER AND INLAND.

Three explosions of patent powder wrecked a brick building at North Tarrytown yesterday. The building, which stood on the shore of the Hudson River, was about 30 by 15 feet in dimensions and in it at the time were William Gill, Charles Carney and James Walbreck, the last two named being boys. No one seems to know what caused the explosion, but about 300 pounds of the explosive were in some way set off and set fire to the building. The fire finished what the force of the explosion commenced, and, although the fire department turned out, the building is a total ruin. The force of the explosion was felt in Tarrytown. The boy Carney had one of his hands burned, but he was the only person injured.

Marlborough Notes.

On Thursday night Officer Quick arrested a well-dressed man, on complaint of John E. Woolsey. To Justice Eldorus Dayton the man said that he came to Marlborough from New-York to have a good time, and was much surprised to know that his fun was summarily cut off. Justice Dayton gave him the choice between $10 or 10 days in the County Jail.

The Old Senate House—Downtown Firemen Going to Catskill—Canoe Club Reception This Evening—A Lawyer Relates an Incident in His Practice—About Horsemen.

The air of neglect noticeable at the Old Senate House in this City provokes much unfavorable comment. In 1887 the act authorizing the purchase of the historical building by the State was passed by the Legislature and $12,000 were appropriated for the purpose, said amount to cover the expense of necessary repairs, alterations, etc. The building was put in order, the modern additions made to the house by different occupants were all torn down and the house made to assume its ancient original appearance. The grounds were leveled, walks laid out and vines planted. Since the improvements were made the house has been closed to visitors. No keeper has been appointed. Lieutenant Governor Jones, who recently visited here, is said to have remarked that if the citizens of Kingston did not take sufficient interest in the building to make it an object of interest and importance, he did not see any reason why a keeper should be appointed. He compared the building to a shell with nothing inside and remarked that in his opinion there was nothing to keep. He opined the citizens here ought to form an association of some kind, get together a collection of ancient relics, in which this City is peculiarly rich, and so furnish the historical landmark and make it an object of interest to the public at large. If this were done, the Lieutenant-Governor gave his auditors to understand that the Trustees of Public Buildings would in all probability appoint a keeper. Senator John J. Linson says that under the law a veteran of the war shall be preferred in the appointment. In this case the appointment of Historian Marius Schoonmaker would be debarred.

The following in reference to the peddler nuisance has a local application: "Itinerant dealers are certainly an injury to any place in which they expose for sale their wares. They may pay the rent of the store they occupy for a few days, and not deviate from an apparent course of procedure, but at the same time they are not entitled to that favorable consideration which is due to home merchants. It is not in the history of any community that it has been built up and made permanently prosperous by the business transactions of transient parties, coming for a specific object, and departing when that object has been accomplished. In fact in nearly every case such parties have left more or less unfavorable conditions to the stability of home business and trade. If they have duped the people by palming off a worthless article, they have planted in the community seeds of distrust that will react upon home merchants whose goods are good and whose transactions are characterized by candor and frankness. If they sell goods that are equal to their representations very cheap, by virtue of having secured them at sales other than regular, they create a misjudging of the home seller thereafter, on the part of his customers, that puts him in a discouraging position."

A writer in the St. Louis Magazine says: "The shade trees about our dwellings have done much to make our wives and daughters pale, feeble and neuralgic. Trees ought never to stand near enough to our dwellings to cast a shade upon them; and if the blinds were removed, and nothing but a curtain within left to lessen on the hottest days the intensity of the heat, it would add greatly to the tone of our nerves and our general vigor. The piazzas which project over the lower story always make that less healthy than the upper story, especially for sleeping purposes. I am sure I have cured a great many cases of rheumatism by advising patients to leave bedrooms shaded by trees or piazzas, and sleep in a room and bed which were constantly dried and purified by the direct rays of the sun." There are too many shade trees by far in localities in this City.

Amateur horsemen differ as to which saddle is the best for horseback riding. Some ride on what is known as the "citizens saddle"—a padded leather saddle. Others use the "wooden tree." A beau ideal horseman of the late war was General J. E. B. Stuart, who was Commander of the Confederate cavalry of the Army of Virginia. One who was intimate with him has given the following description of his equipment:

A plain McClellan tree, upon which a red blanket was confined by a gaily colored surcingle, and bridle with a single headstall, light curb and bit, and a single rein. Mounted upon his sorrel, Stuart was a thorough cavalryman, and he rode at a rapid gallop humming a song.

Officers in the army and rough riders generally find it more convenient to use a single rein and curb bit.

A lawyer related the following here to-day: "I had an amusing experience recently. A woman employed me to defend her. She expected to be arrested for committing an assault and battery. I supposed, of course, she claimed to be innocent. But not a bit of it. She said: 'I licked her. Yes, I licked her good; but she can't prove it. I wasn't going to stand her abuse any longer, so I waited until I got her alone and then I licked her. There were no witnesses, and of course she can't prove it.' With such a client it is perhaps needless to say that I won the case."

It is a rather singular coincidence that the disastrous flood in this State yesterday afternoon—an account of which is printed on page 1—occurred at Johnstown, the name of the place that was swept away in Pennsylvania a short time ago.

"Schakey," said Old Freidelbergh, "fill all der goat bockets full of ice. It vill be a big inducements for beobles to buy goats who vas too poor to buy ice." Ice is dearer than coal these days.

A number of people here have found out by experience that it is dangerous to health to move into a new house before the walls are thoroughly dry.

The members of the Rondout Canoe Club will give a reception this evening to the lady patronesses who assisted at the reception last winter.

Charles Schatzle while working on the new malt house at South Rondout yesterday afternoon was overcome by the heat.

Much new machinery to be erected on the Island docks of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company has arrived.

The water in the Rondout Creek is so roily that fishermen declare that the fish cannot see baited hooks.

Dog days never come to this City. The dogs are always here and the majority of them are mongrels.

Samuel Glenn, ex-Chief of the North Tarrytown Fire Department, is visiting John McCausland here.

The streets on the hillsides have once more been cleaned without the aid of the Street Superintendent.

Benjamin Floyd, a carpenter, had his left hand smashed while at work on a machine here yesterday.

Many young people go boating on the Rondout Creek and Hudson River these evenings.

Green corn is now among the garden truck that meets with a ready sale in the local markets.

A Special Term of the Supreme Court will be held at Chambers on Saturday.

Ponckhockie goats, it is said, sharpen their teeth against quarry stones.

City Engineer Sears is surveying in the First Ward.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD HERE TO-DAY.

Samuel Weiner, Anson Flowers and John Kirsch Buried—Demise of Mrs. Wilcox.

The funeral services of the late Samuel Weiner were held at the residence of Isaac N. Weiner, Spring-street, at about 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. David Wolff, Rabbi of the Synagogue Emanuel, of which the deceased had been a member for many years, officiated. Many friends and members of societies with which Mr. Weiner was identified were in attendance. The interment was in Wiltwyck Rural Cemetery. The pallbearers were A. J. Forbes, H. Luther, John Hussey, Josiah DuBois, M. Wetterhahn, M. Weil, E. Dreyfus and L. Bacharach. The ceremonies at the grave were conducted by Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., Independent Order of Kesher Dhel Baszel and Independent Order of Free Sons of Israel.

At about 9 o'clock this morning Fanny A., wife of Asa H. Wilcox, Secretary of the Norwalk, Conn., Young Men's Christian Association, died at the residence of Charles Romer, on Hone-street, aged 22 years. About three weeks ago Mr. Wilcox brought his wife here, hoping that a change of air and scene would benefit her. The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon. The interment will be in Montrepose Cemetery.

The funeral of Anson Flowers, who died in this City after a long illness, was held this forenoon. The Rev. J. W. Ackerly officiated. The interment was at Beaverkill. The deceased was a member of the Clinton-Avenue M. E. Church.

The funeral of the late John Kirsch was held at St. Peter's German Catholic Church this forenoon. The First German Sick and Aid Society, of which the deceased was a member, attended and marched to the cemetery.

Hours of Recreation.

The members of Cornell Hose Company will make an excursion to Catskill next Wednesday on the barge Sisters. The Company will participate in the firemen's convention and field day, which will be held under the auspices of the Firemen's Association of Greene County. Six hundred dollars in prizes are offered. As one of the prizes is for the finest appearing company in line, it is presumed the Cornells will secure it. Other outings are named, as follows: July 17, Clinton-Avenue M. E. Sunday School, Hampton-on-the-Hudson; July 20, cigar factory employes, Hudson River; July 30, A. M. E. Zion Church, Iona Island; August 1, Hauck Gymnasium Club, picnic, O'Reilly's Grove.

A garden party will be given by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church this evening at the residence of J. W. Hollaway on the Saugerties Road.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of Poughkeepsie will visit the Christian Endeavor Society of the Wurts-Street Baptist Church next Wednesday evening.

The First Reformed Church excursion party to-day filled four coaches on the Ulster & Delaware Railroad. The excursionists spent the day at Arkville.

Wheels and Wheelmen Here.

This bit of advice is given by a veteran bicycler here to novices: "Don't ride fast at the beginning of a journey. Take it easy the first five miles. Then you may be in a condition to increase your speed. A steady gait is the telling gait for a long ride." Recently an amateur rider of this City went with a party to Red Hook. When he returned he said: "We rode as though we had lost our heads. It was 'Come, push along—push along' from the start. We rode as fast as we could for several miles, and then wet with perspiration and panting for breath we stopped a long time to recover. Then on we rushed again. Hereafter I intend to ride like a sane man, and if the rest of the party don't like it they can go on and leave me."

An up-town youth says he is ready to test his big wheel against any safety machine on track or road.

Wheelmen say that a ride in the early morning, when the dew is heavy on the ground, is refreshing.

The number of wheelmen here has been increased 100 per cent. in a year's time.

Henry Hudler has made a half mile on the Kingston Driving Park in 1:40.

Strength is not the only requisite in hil climbing.

A Train Derailed.

The train which was dispatched from the Union depot here at 3:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon for points along the Wallkill Valley Railroad, was derailed near the village of Wallkill. In the cars were tourists en route to summer resorts in the Shawangunk Mountains and for points along the Walkill Valley. They were shaken up, but none sustained any personal injury of moment. The damage resulting from the derailment was small. Travel was delayed several hours. Trains were run on time to-day.

Maltese Cat, Chipmunks and Grains of Rye.

John L. Smith, of Whiteport, is the owner of a maltese cat that forages in the woods thereabout for food for its kittens. It brings home young rabbits, snakes, bull frogs and squirrels. This morning it caught a chipmunk. Noticing that the cheeks of the chipmunk were considerably distended, Smith made an investigation, and found its mouth filled with grains of rye. He counted the grains, and there were 234. Smith is figuring how many of these little ground squirrels it will take to clean out an acre of rye.

Rondout Canoeists will Participate.

The members of the Rondout Canoe Club have received an invitation to participate in the annual regatta of the Yonkers Canoe Club, which will be held on July 27. The following will be the events: First, sailing of unclassified canoes; second, sailing and manoeuvering; third, sailing and paddling race combined; fourth, paddling, single class; fifth, paddling, tandem class; sixth, hurry scurry race; seventh, paddling, upset; eighth, tournament race. The A. C. A. rules will govern the races, which are open to all canoeists.

Not a Pleasant Experience.

Last evening when it seemed as if the flood gates of heaven had been opened, three members of the Hudson Yacht Club and two members of the Rondout Canoe Club became stuck in the mud on the Kingston Point flats. They were forced to remain in their unpleasant situation until the rain had ceased falling. Hail stones played a tatoo on their heads.

Personal.

RAIN FALLS IN SHEETS HERE

AND HAIL CAUSES HAVOC IN LOCALITIES IN ULSTER COUNTY.

One or Two Vineyards Said to Look as Though They Had Been Riddled With Grape and Canister—The Storm in the Catskill Mountains.

Rain has fallen frequently during the past three months, but between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening there was one of the severest and long-continued down-pourings ever known here. Water came down in sheets. The streets for five minutes were miniature rivers of water. In instances barrels and boxes were floated. The rain was accompanied by sharp flashes of lightning and heavy peals of thunder.

Large hail stones fell, which injured grapes in a number of localities in Ulster County. One or two vineyards look as though they had been riddled with grape and canister. Steam and sailing craft had a hard time of it on the Hudson River. In portions of the Catskills the storm is described as being terribly magnificent. During the five minutes when the storm was at its height an enormous amount of water fell.

The storm passed up north, where it wrought havoc. Taken all in all it was a notable exhibition of the forces of Nature. The electricity had a purifying effect on the atmosphere, and made the night delightfully cool and conducive to rest and sleep. There are people who say that the downpour of rain can best be described by calling it a cloud-burst.

Judge Edwards, of the Supreme Court, refuses to set aside the verdict of $4,000 rendered against the Catskill & New-York Steamboat Company in the case brought against it by Beulah Rouse, an infant. The action was brought under the Civil Damage Act for damages caused by the death of the father of the plaintiff, who was employed as a deckhand on the steamer Walter Brett and was drowned in June, 1888. It is alleged that the liquor from which Rouse became intoxicated was purchased at the bar kept on board the steamboat.

THE LOCAL SHIPPING NEWS IN BRIEF.

High Water in Rondout Creek—Coal Tonnage at Tidewater, Freights, Etc.

Last night there was an extraordinary high tide in the Rondout Creek. The barge Samoset, owned by William Strobridge, which had been lying on the flats at South Rondout for a long time, floated off, filled with water and sunk. This morning a propeller towed the Samoset to the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company's middle ground, out of the way of passing vessels.

There arrived at tide-water, at Eddyville, yesterday, 25 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with 3,400 tons of coal.

The whistle of the steamer "City of Kingston" was blown at the mouth of the Rondout Creek at 10 o'clock last night.

The barge Binghamton cleared this port to-day with a cargo of 1,005 tons of coal.

The semi-annual meeting of the Society will be held Monday, July 22, on the anniversary of the battle of Minisink, in the grove of Levi Cuddeback at Cuddebackville, on the line of the Port-Jervis, Monticello & New-York Railroad. The business meeting of the Society will take place at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and will be followed by a basket picnic. After dinner suitable exercises will be held and addresses will be delivered by C. E. Cuddeback, of Port-Jervis, and the Rev. A. S. Gardiner, of Milford."

Why Engineers

Conductors, baggage masters, brakemen and all who are constantly traveling upon railroads are more or less afflicted with kidney disease is from the fact that they are constantly being shaken by the jar of the fast-running trains. It begins by pain across the small of the back extending down the inside of the leg to the knees, frequent desire to urinate dark and high-colored urine, stiff back, hate to bend over, pain when lying down, pain when standing, pain when sitting, in fact, pain, pain all the time, and unless relief is obtained Bright's Disease is sure to follow. Nothing will liven up the kidneys, regulate the urine, limber the back like the use of Brown's Sarsaparilla. Read what Conductor Anderson, of the Maine Central Railroad says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla with marked effect." Road Master E. A. Smith, of the Boston & Maine system of railroads, says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla for kidney troubles and can truly say it has done more for me than all the doctors I ever employed, and I have had occasion to require the services of the best physicians in the State. My wife has also been benefited by the use of

PEREMPTORY SALE

Of Dock Property, Blue Stone Quarry Lands, Farm, Dwelling House and Lot, Business Office and Lots. Offers at private sale for a short time. All not disposed of privately to be sold at Public Sale on THE NEW-YORK CITY REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.

FIRST PIECE—200 feet front dock property at Kingston, [Wilbur,] N. Y., on Rondout Creek situate between dock properties of H. Osterhoudt on the south, and Jas. J. Sweeney, occupied by George Kerr, on the north, opposite the cement works of Warren Ackerman, [formerly of J. B. James.]

SECOND PIECE.—300 feet front of dock property at same place, situate between dock properties of Jas. J. Sweeney, [formerly Booth Bros.] on the south, and Julius Osterhoudt on the north. Both of these docks are admirably suitable for the blue stone business, and are also favorably for storehouses, ice houses or sites for manufactories of any kind. These docks were formerly known as "The Hallahan Dock Property."

THIRD PIECE.—A plot of ground about 100 feet front on Abeel-street, Wilbur, and about 53 feet deep, on which is the business office of J. V. Cummings. This place lies across the street from the dock property above described and adjoins the residence property of Alderman James Purvis.

FOURTH PIECE.—A small dwelling house, [now occupied by Mrs. Coady,] situate on Abeel-street, immediately adjoining the third described piece. Size of lot 25x53 feet.

FOURTH PIECE.—The blue stone quarry, Lot No. 55, in Town Kingston, known as the "Russell Lot," adjoining quarry lots of A. VanAken, Wm. M. Hayes and P. Cahill. This lot contains large deposits of the finest blue stone and can be made to return a large revenue. 45 acre lot.

SIXTH PIECE.—The farm and blue stone quarry, Lot No. 2, in the Town of Woodstock, known as the "Britt Farm," adjoining lands of W. H. VanEtten. Size of lot 45 acres.

SEVENTH PIECE.—The Blue Stone Quarry Lot No. 57, in Town of Kingston, known as "Maginnis or Sheehan Lot," worked by David Keenan and others. Size of lot 45 acres.

The foregoing briefly described property offers a good paying investment. The several pieces netting from 7 to 17 per cent. on owners' valuation.

If wanted for business purposes possession can be given at once.

Taken as entirety, or, the dock property alone affords a splendid opportunity for the New-York dealers, or local men of enterprise to enter the blue stone business. A business that, owing to the recent and contemplated innovations by the existing management of the North River Blue Stone industry, unsatisfactory to the trade in general, offers a ready and willing market to a new concern, which, besides being profitable, would be a local public benefit, by recalling to this market dealers who now buy elsewhere.

Object of sale, to divide proceeds between joint owners.

Sale peremptory, and if not disposed of at private sale notice will be given, simultaneously in this, and the New-York papers, of the time and place of public sale.

CITY HAPPENINGS AND CHAT.

MEN, MATTERS, PROJECTS, STORIES AND GOSSIP BRIEFLY PARAGRAPHED.

The Old Senate House—Downtown Firemen Going to Catskill—Canoe Club Reception This Evening—A Lawyer Relates an Incident in His Practice—About Horsemen.

The air of neglect noticeable at the Old Senate House in this City provokes much unfavorable comment. In 1887 the act authorizing the purchase of the historical building by the State was passed by the Legislature and $12,000 were appropriated for the purpose, said amount to cover the expense of necessary repairs, alterations, etc. The building was put in order, the modern additions made to the house by different occupants were all torn down and the house made to assume its ancient original appearance. The grounds were leveled, walks laid out and vines planted. Since the improvements were made the house has been closed to visitors. No keeper has been appointed. Lieutenant Governor Jones, who recently visited here, is said to have remarked that if the citizens of Kingston did not take sufficient interest in the building to make it an object of interest and importance, he did not see any reason why a keeper should be appointed. He compared the building to a shell with nothing inside and remarked that in his opinion there was nothing to keep. He opined the citizens here ought to form an association of some kind, get together a collection of ancient relics, in which this City is peculiarly rich, and so furnish the historical landmark and make it an object of interest to the public at large. If this were done, the Lieutenant-Governor gave his auditors to understand that the Trustees of Public Buildings would in all probability appoint a keeper. Senator John J. Linson says that under the law a veteran of the war shall be preferred in the appointment. In this case the appointment of Historian Marius Schoonmaker would be debarred.

The following in reference to the peddler nuisance has a local application: "Itinerant dealers are certainly an injury to any place in which they expose for sale their wares. They may pay the rent of the store they occupy for a few days, and not deviate from an apparent course of procedure, but at the same time they are not entitled to that favorable consideration which is due to home merchants. It is not in the history of any community that it has been built up and made permanently prosperous by the business transactions of transient parties, coming for a specific object, and departing when that object has been accomplished. In fact in nearly every case such parties have left more or less unfavorable conditions to the stability of home business and trade. If they have duped the people by palming off a worthless article, they have planted in the community seeds of distrust that will react upon home merchants whose goods are good and whose transactions are characterized by candor and frankness. If they sell goods that are equal to their representations very cheap, by virtue of having secured them at sales other than regular, they create a misjudging of the home seller thereafter, on the part of his customers, that puts him in a discouraging position."

A writer in the St. Louis Magazine says: "The shade trees about our dwellings have done much to make our wives and daughters pale, feeble and neuralgic. Trees ought never to stand near enough to our dwellings to cast a shade upon them; and if the blinds were removed, and nothing but a curtain within left to lessen on the hottest days the intensity of the heat, it would add greatly to the tone of our nerves and our general vigor. The piazzas which project over the lower story always make that less healthy than the upper story, especially for sleeping purposes. I am sure I have cured a great many cases of rheumatism by advising patients to leave bedrooms shaded by trees or piazzas, and sleep in a room and bed which were constantly dried and purified by the direct rays of the sun." There are too many shade trees by far in localities in this City.

Amateur horsemen differ as to which saddle is the best for horseback riding. Some ride on what is known as the "citizens saddle"—a padded leather saddle. Others use the "wooden tree." A beau ideal horseman of the late war was General J. E. B. Stuart, who was Commander of the Confederate cavalry of the Army of Virginia. One who was intimate with him has given the following description of his equipment:

A plain McClellan tree, upon which a red blanket was confined by a gaily colored surcingle, and he bridled with a single headstall, light curb and bit, and a single rein. Mounted upon his sorrel, Stuart was a thorough cavalryman, and he rode at a rapid gallop humming a song.

Officers in the army and rough riders generally find it more convenient to use a single rein and curb bit.

A lawyer related the following here to-day: "I had an amusing experience recently. A woman employed me to defend her. She expected to be arrested for committing an assault and battery. I supposed, of course, she claimed to be innocent. But not a bit of it. She said: 'I licked her. Yes, I licked her good; but she can't prove it. I wasn't going to stand her abuse any longer, so I waited until I got her alone and then I licked her. There were no witnesses, and of course she can't prove it.' With such a client it is perhaps needless to say that I won the case."

It is a rather singular coincidence that the disastrous flood in this State yesterday afternoon—an account of which is printed on page 1—occurred at Johnstown, the name of the place that was swept away in Pennsylvania a short time ago.

"Schakey," said Old Freddelbergh, "fill all der goat buckets full of ice. It vill be a big inducements for beobles to buy goats who vas too poor to buy ice." Ice is dearer than coal these days.

A number of people here have found out by experience that it is dangerous to health to move into a new house before the walls are thoroughly dry.

The members of the Rondout Canoe Club will give a reception this evening to the lady patronesses who assisted at the reception last winter.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD HERE TO-DAY.

Samuel Weiner, Anson Flowers and John Kirsch Buried—Demise of Mrs. Wilcox.

The funeral services of the late Samuel Weiner were held at the residence of Isaac N. Weiner, Spring-street, at about 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. David Wolff, Rabbi of the Synagogue Emanuel, of which the deceased had been a member for many years, officiated. Many friends and members of societies with which Mr. Weiner was identified were in attendance. The interment was in Wiltwyck Rural Cemetery. The pallbearers were A. J. Forbes, H. Luther, John Hussey, Josiah DuBois, M. Wetterhahn, M. Weil, E. Dreyfus and L. Bacharach. The ceremonies at the grave were conducted by Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., Independent Order of Kesher Dhel Baszel and Independent Order of Free Sons of Israel.

At about 9 o'clock this morning Fanny A., wife of Asa H. Wilcox, Secretary of the Norwalk, Conn., Young Men's Christian Association, died at the residence of Charles Romer, on Hone-street, aged 22 years. About three weeks ago Mr. Wilcox brought his wife here, hoping that a change of air and scene would benefit her. The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon. The interment will be in Montrepose Cemetery.

The funeral of Anson Flowers, who died in this City after a long illness, was held this forenoon. The Rev. J. W. Ackerly officiated. The interment was at Beaverkill. The deceased was a member of the Clinton-Avenue M. E. Church.

The funeral of the late John Kirsch was held at St. Peter's German Catholic Church this forenoon. The First German Sick and Aid Society, of which the deceased was a member, attended and marched to the cemetery.

Hours of Recreation.

The members of Cornell Hose Company will make an excursion to Catskill next Wednesday on the barge Sisters. The Company will participate in the firemen's convention and field day, which will be held under the auspices of the Firemen's Association of Greene County. Six hundred dollars in prizes are offered. As one of the prizes is for the finest appearing company in line, it is presumed the Cornells will secure it. Other outings are named, as follows: July 17, Clinton-Avenue M. E. Sunday School, Hampton-on-the-Hudson; July 20, cigar factory employes, Hudson River; July 30, A. M. E. Zion Church, Iona Island; August 1, Hauck Gymnasium Club, picnic, O'Reilly's Grove.

A garden party will be given by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church this evening at the residence of J. W. Hollaway on the Saugerties Road.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of Poughkeepsie will visit the Christian Endeavor Society of the Wurts-Street Baptist Church next Wednesday evening.

The First Reformed Church excursion party to-day filled four coaches on the Ulster & Delaware Railroad. The excursionists spent the day at Arkville.

Wheels and Wheelmen Here.

This bit of advice is given by a veteran bicycler here to novices: "Don't ride fast at the beginning of a journey. Take it easy the first five miles. Then you may be in a condition to increase your speed. A steady gait is the telling gait for a long ride." Recently an amateur rider of this City went with a party to Red Hook. When he returned he said: "We rode as though we had lost our heads. It was 'Come, push along—push along' from the start. We rode as fast as we could for several miles, and then wet with perspiration and panting for breath we stopped a long time to recover. Then on we rushed again. Hereafter I intend to ride like a sane man, and if the rest of the party don't like it they can go on and leave me."

An up town youth says he is ready to test his big wheel against any safety machine on track or road.

Wheelmen say that a ride in the early morning, when the dew is heavy on the ground, is refreshing.

The number of wheelmen here has been increased 100 per cent. in a year's time.

Henry Hudler has made a half mile on the Kingston Driving Park in 1:40.

Strength is not the only requisite in hil climbing.

A Train Derailed.

The train which was dispatched from the Union depot here at 3:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon for points along the Wallkill Valley Railroad, was derailed near the village of Wallkill. In the cars were tourists en route to summer resorts in the Shawangunk Mountains and for points along the Walkill Valley. They were shaken up, but none sustained any personal injury of moment. The damage resulting from the derailment was small. Travel was delayed several hours. Trains were run on time to-day.

Maltese Cat, Chipmunks and Grains of Rye.

John L. Smith, of Whiteport, is the owner of a maltese cat that forages in the woods thereabout for food for its kittens. It brings home young rabbits, snakes, bull frogs and squirrels. This morning it caught a chipmunk. Noticing that the cheeks of the chipmunk were considerably distended, Smith made an investigation, and found its mouth filled with grains of rye. He counted the grains, and there were 234. Smith is figuring how many of these little ground squirrels it will take to clean out an acre of rye.

Not a Pleasant Experience.

Last evening when it seemed as if the flood gates of heaven had been opened, three members of the Hudson Yacht Club and two members of the Rondout Canoe Club became stuck in the mud on the Kingston Point flats. They were forced to remain in their unpleasant situation until the rain had ceased falling. Hail stones played a tatoo on their heads.

RAIN FALLS IN SHEETS HERE

AND HAIL CAUSES HAVOC IN LOCALITIES IN ULSTER COUNTY.

One or Two Vineyards Said to Look as Though They Had Been Riddled With Grape and Canister—The Storm in the Catskill Mountains.

Rain has fallen frequently during the past three months, but between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening there was one of the severest and long-continued down-pourings ever known here. Water came down in sheets. The streets for five minutes were miniature rivers of water. In instances barrels and boxes were floated. The rain was accompanied by sharp flashes of lightning and heavy peals of thunder.

Large hail stones fell, which injured grapes in a number of localities in Ulster County. One or two vineyards look as though they had been riddled with grape and canister. Steam and sailing craft had a hard time of it on the Hudson River. In portions of the Catskills the storm is described as being terribly magnificent. During the five minutes when the storm was at its height an enormous amount of water fell.

The storm passed up north, where it wrought havoc. Taken all in all it was a notable exhibition of the forces of Nature. The electricity had a purifying effect on the atmosphere, and made the night delightfully cool and conducive to rest and sleep. There are people who say that the downpour of rain can best be described by calling it a cloud-burst.

Judge Edwards, of the Supreme Court, refuses to set aside the verdict of $4,000 rendered against the Catskill & New-York Steamboat Company in the case brought against it by Beulah Rouse, an infant. The action was brought under the Civil Damage Act for damages caused by the death of the father of the plaintiff, who was employed as a deckhand on the steamer Walter Brett and was drowned in June, 1888. It is alleged that the liquor from which Rouse became intoxicated was purchased at the bar kept on board the steamboat.

THE LOCAL SHIPPING NEWS IN BRIEF.

High Water in Rondout Creek—Coal Tonnage at Tidewater, Freights, Etc.

Last night there was an extraordinary high tide in the Rondout Creek. The barge Samoset, owned by William Strobridge, which had been lying on the flats at South Rondout for a long time, floated off, filled with water and sunk. This morning a propeller towed the Samoset to the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company's middle ground, out of the way of passing vessels.

There arrived at tide-water, at Eddyville, yesterday, 25 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with 3,400 tons of coal.

The whistle of the steamer "City of Kingston" was blown at the mouth of the Rondout Creek at 10 o'clock last night.

The barge Binghamton cleared this port to-day with a cargo of 1,005 tons of coal.

The semi-annual meeting of the Society will be held Monday, July 22, on the anniversary of the battle of Minisink, in the grove of Levi Cuddeback at Cuddebackville, on the line of the Port-Jervis, Monticello & New-York Railroad. The business meeting of the Society will take place at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and will be followed by a basket picnic. After dinner suitable exercises will be held and addresses will be delivered by C. E. Cuddeback, of Port-Jervis, and the Rev. A. S. Gardiner, of Milford."

Why Engineers

Conductors, baggage masters, brakemen and all who are constantly traveling upon railroads are more or less afflicted with kidney disease is from the tact that they are constantly being shaken by the jar of the fast-running trains. It begins by pain across the small of the back extending down the inside of the leg to the knees, frequent desire to urinate dark and high-colored urine, stiff back, hate to bend over, pain when lying down, pain when standing, pain when sitting, in fact, pain, pain all the time, and unless relief is obtained Bright's Disease is sure to follow. Nothing will liven up the kidneys, regulate the urine, limber the back like the use of Brown's Sarsaparilla. Read what Conductor Anderson, of the Maine Central Railroad says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla with marked effect." Road Master E. A. Smith, of the Boston & Maine system of railroads, says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla for kidney troubles and can truly say it has done more for me than all the doctors I ever employed, and I have had occasion to require the services of the best physicians in the State. My wife has also been benefited by the use of

PEREMPTORY SALE

Of Dock Property, Blue Stone Quarry Lands, Farm, Dwelling House and Lot, Business Office and Lots. Offers at private sale for a short time. All not disposed of privately to be sold at Public Sale on THE NEW-YORK CITY REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.

FIRST PIECE.—200 feet front dock property at Kingston, [Wilbur,] N. Y., on Rondout Creek situate between dock properties of H. Osterhoudt on the south, and Jas. J. Sweeney, occupied by George Kerr, on the north, opposite the cement works of Warren Ackerman, [formerly of J. B. James.]

SECOND PIECE.—300 feet front of dock property at same place, situate between dock properties of Jas. J. Sweeney, [formerly Booth Bros.] on the south, and Julius Osterhoudt on the north. Both of these docks are admirably suitable for the blue stone business, and are also favorably for storehouses, ice houses or sites for manufactories of any kind. These docks were formerly known as "The Hallahan Dock Property."

THIRD PIECE.—A plot of ground about 100 feet front on Abeel-street, Wilbur, and about 53 feet deep, on which is the business office of J. V. Cummings. This place lies across the street from the dock property above described and adjoins the residence property of Alderman James Purvis.

FOURTH PIECE.—A small dwelling house, [now occupied by Mrs. Coady,] situate on Abeel-street, immediately adjoining the third described piece. Size of lot 25x53 feet.

FOURTH PIECE.—The blue stone quarry, Lot No. 55, in Town Kingston, known as the "Russell Lot," adjoining quarry lots of A. VanAken, Wm. M. Hayes and P. Cahill. This lot contains large deposits of the finest blue stone and can be made to return a large revenue. 45 acre lot.

SIXTH PIECE.—The farm and blue stone quarry, Lot No. 2, in the Town of Woodstock, known as the "Britt Farm," adjoining lands of W. H. VanEtten. Size of lot 45 acres.

SEVENTH PIECE.—The Blue Stone Quarry Lot No. 57, in Town of Kingston, known as "Maginnis or Sheehan Lot," worked by David Keenan and others. Size of lot 45 acres.

The foregoing briefly described property offers a good paying investment. The several pieces netting from 7 to 17 per cent. on owners' valuation.

If wanted for business purposes possession can be given at once.

Taken as entirety, or, the dock property alone affords a splendid opportunity for the New-York dealers, or local men of enterprise to enter the blue stone business. A business that, owing to the recent and contemplated innovations by the existing management of the North River Blue Stone industry, unsatisfactory to the trade in general, offers a ready and willing market to a new concern, which, besides being profitable, would be a local public benefit, by recalling to this market dealers who now buy elsewhere.

Object of sale, to divide proceeds between joint owners.

Sale peremptory, and if not disposed of at private sale notice will be given, simultaneously in this, and the New-York papers, of the time and place of public sale.

CITY HAPPENINGS AND CHAT.

MEN, MATTERS, PROJECTS, STORIES AND GOSSIP BRIEFLY PARAGRAPHED.

The Old Senate House—Downtown Firemen Going to Catskill—Canoe Club Reception This Evening—A Lawyer Relates an Incident in His Practice—About Horsemen.

The air of neglect noticeable at the Old Senate House in this City provokes much unfavorable comment. In 1887 the act authorizing the purchase of the historical building by the State was passed by the Legislature and $12,000 were appropriated for the purpose, said amount to cover the expense of necessary repairs, alterations, etc. The building was put in order, the modern additions made to the house by different occupants were all torn down and the house made to assume its ancient original appearance. The grounds were leveled, walks laid out and vines planted. Since the improvements were made the house has been closed to visitors. No keeper has been appointed. Lieutenant Governor Jones, who recently visited here, is said to have remarked that if the citizens of Kingston did not take sufficient interest in the building to make it an object of interest and importance, he did not see any reason why a keeper should be appointed. He compared the building to a shell with nothing inside and remarked that in his opinion there was nothing to keep. He opined the citizens here ought to form an association of some kind, get together a collection of ancient relics, in which this City is peculiarly rich, and so furnish the historical landmark and make it an object of interest to the public at large. If this were done, the Lieutenant-Governor gave his auditors to understand that the Trustees of Public Buildings would in all probability appoint a keeper. Senator John J. Linson says that under the law a veteran of the war shall be preferred in the appointment. In this case the appointment of Historian Marius Schoonmaker would be debarred.

The following in reference to the peddler nuisance has a local application: "Itinerant dealers are certainly an injury to any place in which they expose for sale their wares. They may pay the rent of the store they occupy for a few days, and not deviate from an apparent course of procedure, but at the same time they are not entitled to that favorable consideration which is due to home merchants. It is not in the history of any community that it has been built up and made permanently prosperous by the business transactions of transient parties, coming for a specific object, and departing when that object has been accomplished. In fact in nearly every case such parties have left more or less unfavorable conditions to the stability of home business and trade. If they have duped the people by palming off a worthless article, they have planted in the community seeds of distrust that will react upon home merchants whose goods are good and whose transactions are characterized by candor and frankness. If they sell goods that are equal to their representations very cheap, by virtue of having secured them at sales other than regular, they create a misjudging of the home seller thereafter, on the part of his customers, that puts him in a discouraging position."

A writer in the St. Louis Magazine says: "The shade trees about our dwellings have done much to make our wives and daughters pale, feeble and neuralgic. Trees ought never to stand near enough to our dwellings to cast a shade upon them; and if the blinds were removed, and nothing but a curtain within left to lessen on the hottest days the intensity of the heat, it would add greatly to the tone of our nerves and our general vigor. The piazzas which project over the lower story always make that less healthy than the upper story, especially for sleeping purposes. I am sure I have cured a great many cases of rheumatism by advising patients to leave bedrooms shaded by trees or piazzas, and sleep in a room and bed which were constantly dried and purified by the direct rays of the sun." There are too many shade trees by far in localities in this City.

Amateur horsemen differ as to which saddle is the best for horseback riding. Some ride on what is known as the "citizens saddle"—a padded leather saddle. Others use the "wooden tree." A beau ideal horseman of the late war was General J. E. B. Stuart, who was Commander of the Confederate cavalry of the Army of Virginia. One who was intimate with him has given the following description of his equipment:

A plain McClellan tree, upon which a red blanket was confined by a gaily colored surcingle, and bridle with a single headstall, light curb and bit, and a single rein. Mounted upon his sorrel, Stuart was a thorough cavalryman, and he rode at a rapid gallop humming a song.

Officers in the army and rough riders generally find it more convenient to use a single rein and curb bit.

A lawyer related the following here to-day: "I had an amusing experience recently. A woman employed me to defend her. She expected to be arrested for committing an assault and battery. I supposed, of course, she claimed to be innocent. But not a bit of it. She said: 'I licked her. Yes, I licked her good; but she can't prove it. I wasn't going to stand her abuse any longer, so I waited until I got her alone and then I licked her. There were no witnesses, and of course she can't prove it.' With such a client it is perhaps needless to say that I won the case."

It is a rather singular coincidence that the disastrous flood in this State yesterday afternoon—an account of which is printed on page 1—occurred at Johnstown, the name of the place that was swept away in Pennsylvania a short time ago.

"Schakey," said Old Freidelbergh, "fill all der goat buckets full of ice. It will be a big inducements for beobles to buy goats who vas too poor to buy ice." Ice is dearer than coal these days.

A number of people here have found out by experience that it is dangerous to health to move into a new house before the walls are thoroughly dry.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD HERE TO-DAY.

Samuel Weiner, Anson Flowers and John Kirsch Buried—Demise of Mrs. Wilcox.

The interment will be in Montrepose Cemetery.

Wheels and Wheelmen Here.

This bit of advice is given by a veteran bicycler here to novices: "Don't ride fast at the beginning of a journey. Take it easy the first five miles. Then you may be in a condition to increase your speed. A steady gait is the telling gait for a long ride." Recently an amateur rider of this City went with a party to Red Hook. When he returned he said: "We rode as though we had lost our heads. It was 'Come, push along—push along' from the start. We rode as fast as we could for several miles, and then wet with perspiration and panting for breath we stopped a long time to recover. Then on we rushed again. Hereafter I intend to ride like a sane man, and if the rest of the party don't like it they can go on and leave me."

An up town youth says he is ready to test his big wheel against any safety machine on track or road.

Wheelmen say that a ride in the early morning, when the dew is heavy on the ground, is refreshing.

The number of wheelmen here has been increased 100 per cent. in a year's time.

Henry Hudler has made a half mile on the Kingston Driving Park in 1:40.

Strength is not the only requisite in hil climbing.

A Train Derailed.

The train which was dispatched from the Union depot here at 3:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon for points along the Wallkill Valley Railroad, was derailed near the village of Wallkill. In the cars were tourists en route to summer resorts in the Shawangunk Mountains and for points along the Walkill Valley. They were shaken up, but none sustained any personal injury of moment. The damage resulting from the derailment was small. Travel was delayed several hours. Trains were run on time to-day.

Maltese Cat. Chipmunks and Grains of Rye.

John L. Smith, of Whiteport, is the owner of a maltese cat that forages in the woods thereabout for food for its kittens. It brings home young rabbits, snakes, bull frogs and squirrels. This morning it caught a chipmunk. Noticing that the cheeks of the chipmunk were considerably distended, Smith made an investigation, and found its mouth filled with grains of rye. He counted the grains, and there were 234. Smith is figuring how many of these little ground squirrels it will take to clean out an acre of rye.

The A. C. A. rules will govern the races, which are open to all canoeists.

Not a Pleasant Experience.

Last evening when it seemed as if the flood gates of heaven had been opened, three members of the Hudson Yacht Club and two members of the Rondout Canoe Club became stuck in the mud on the Kingston Point flats. They were forced to remain in their unpleasant situation until the rain had ceased falling. Hail stones played a tatoo on their heads.

RAIN FALLS IN SHEETS HERE

AND HAIL CAUSES HAVOC IN LOCALITIES IN ULSTER COUNTY.

One or Two Vineyards Said to Look as Though They Had Been Riddled With Grape and Canister—The Storm in the Catskill Mountains.

Rain has fallen frequently during the past three months, but between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening there was one of the severest and long-continued down-pourings ever known here. Water came down in sheets. The streets for five minutes were miniature rivers of water. In instances barrels and boxes were floated. The rain was accompanied by sharp flashes of lightning and heavy peals of thunder.

Large hail stones fell, which injured grapes in a number of localities in Ulster County. One or two vineyards look as though they had been riddled with grape and canister. Steam and sailing craft had a hard time of it on the Hudson River. In portions of the Catskills the storm is described as being terribly magnificent. During the five minutes when the storm was at its height an enormous amount of water fell.

The storm passed up north, where it wrought havoc. Taken all in all it was a notable exhibition of the forces of Nature. The electricity had a purifying effect on the atmosphere, and made the night delightfully cool and conducive to rest and sleep. There are people who say that the downpour of rain can best be described by calling it a cloud-burst.

Judge Edwards, of the Supreme Court, refuses to set aside the verdict of $4,090 rendered against the Catskill & New-York Steamboat Company in the case brought against it by Beulah Rouse, an infant. The action was brought under the Civil Damage Act for damages caused by the death of the father of the plaintiff, who was employed as a deckhand on the steamer Walter Brett and was drowned in June, 1888. It is alleged that the liquor from which Rouse became intoxicated was purchased at the bar kept on board the steamboat.

Last night there was an extraordinary high tide in the Rondout Creek. The barge Samoset, owned by William Strobridge, which had been lying on the flats at South Rondout for a long time, floated off, filled with water and sunk. This morning a propeller towed the Samoset to the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company's middle ground, out of the way of passing vessels.

The semi-annual meeting of the Society will be held Monday, July 22, on the anniversary of the battle of Minisink, in the grove of Levi Cuddeback at Cuddebackville, on the line of the Port-Jervis, Monticello & New-York Railroad. The business meeting of the Society will take place at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and will be followed by a basket picnic. After dinner suitable exercises will be held and addresses will be delivered by C. E. Cuddeback, of Port-Jervis, and the Rev. A. S. Gardiner, of Milford."

Why Engineers

Conductors, baggage masters, brakemen and all who are constantly traveling upon railroads are more or less afflicted with kidney disease is from the tact that they are constantly being shaken by the jar of the fast-running trains. It begins by pain across the small of the back extending down the inside ot the leg to the knees, frequent desire to urinate dark and high-colored urine, stiff back, hate to bend over, pain when lying down, pain when standing, pain when sitting, in fact, pain, pain all the time, and unless relief is obtained Bright's Disease is sure to follow. Nothing will liven up the kidneys, regulate the urine, limber the back like the use of Brown's Sarsaparilla. Read what Conductor Anderson, of the Maine Central Railroad says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla with marked effect." Road Master E. A. Smith, of the Boston & Maine system of railroads, says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla for kidney troubles and can truly say it has done more for me than all the doctors I ever employed, and I have had occasion to require the services of the best physicians in the State. My wife has also been benefited by the use of

BROWN'S, Sarsaparilla.

This is why railroad men use Brown's Sarsaparilla. Not genuine unless made by Ara Warren & Co., Bangor, Me.

PEREMPTORY SALE

Of Dock Property, Blue Stone Quarry Lands, Farm, Dwelling House and Lot, Business Office and Lots. Offers at private sale for a short time. All not disposed of privately to be sold at Public Sale on THE NEW-YORK CITY REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.

FIRST PIECE—200 feet front dock property at Kingston, [Wilbur,] N. Y., on Rondout Creek situate between dock properties of H. Osterhoudt on the south, and Jas. J. Sweeney, occupied by George Kerr, on the north, opposite the cement works of Warren Ackerman, [formerly of J. B. James.]

SECOND PIECE.—300 feet front of dock property at same place, situate between dock properties of Jas. J. Sweeney, [formerly Booth Bros.] on the south, and Julius Osterhoudt on the north. Both of these docks are admirably suitable for the blue stone business, and are also favorably for storehouses, ice houses or sites for manufactories of any kind. These docks were formerly known as "The Hallahan Dock Property."

THIRD PIECE.—A plot of ground about 100 feet front on Abeel-street, Wilbur, and about 53 feet deep, on which is the business office of J. V. Cummings. This place lies across the street from the dock property above described and adjoins the residence property of Alderman James Purvis.

FOURTH PIECE.—A small dwelling house, [now occupied by Mrs. Coady,] situate on Abeel-street, immediately adjoining the third described piece. Size of lot 25x53 feet.

FOURTH PIECE.—The blue stone quarry, Lot No. 55, in Town Kingston, known as the "Russell Lot," adjoining quarry lots of A. VanAken, Wm. M. Hayes and P. Cahill. This lot contains large deposits of the finest blue stone and can be made to return a large revenue. 45 acre lot.

SIXTH PIECE.—The farm and blue stone quarry, Lot No. 2, in the Town of Woodstock, known as the "Britt Farm," adjoining lands of W. H. VanEtten. Size of lot 45 acres.

SEVENTH PIECE.—The Blue Stone Quarry Lot No. 57, in Town of Kingston, known as "Maginnis or Sheehan Lot," worked by David Keenan and others. Size of lot 45 acres.

The foregoing briefly described property offers a good paying investment. The several pieces netting from 7 to 17 per cent. on owners' valuation.

If wanted for business purposes possession can be given at once.

Taken as entirety, or, the dock property alone affords a splendid opportunity for the New-York dealers, or local men of enterprise to enter the blue stone business. A business that, owing to the recent and contemplated innovations by the existing management of the North River Blue Stone industry, unsatisfactory to the trade in general, offers a ready and willing market to a new concern, which, besides being profitable, would be a local public benefit, by recalling to this market dealers who now buy elsewhere.

Object of sale, to divide proceeds between joint owners.

Sale peremptory, and if not disposed of at private sale notice will be given, simultaneously in this, and the New-York papers, of the time and place of public sale.

For terms and further particulars call on, or address
